ROMMEL NEARS MATRUH BATTLE STAND; REDS TRY TO STEM NAZIS IN UKRAINE; 1,000 BRITISH PLANES PUMMEL BREMEN

VOLUNTEER U. S. FLIERS JOIN IN RAID

Bombers Criss-Cross Second Biggest Nazi Port In Night Attack.

HUGE BOMBS DROPPED

4,500-Pound Missiles Aimed at Submarine Works and Airplane Plants.

(By United Press)

LONDON — More than 1,000 British planes blasted Bremen, Germany's second port, and other enemy cities during the night.

An extremely large force of fighter and coastal command planes, drawn from all operational forces of the Royal Air Force, backed up the bombing fleet.

Fifty-two planes were missing, is was announced, compared with 44 in the 1,030 plane raid on Cologne which started the series of 1,000 plane raids of which last night's was the third

Thus the Royal Air Force had paid its greatest toll in men and planes in a single night since the war started.

It was indicated that the actual force of planes engaged, including those of the coastal and fighter commands, was well over 1,300 because well-informed quarters understood that the percentage loss was under 4 per cent.

German propaganda broadcasts as usual attempted to discount the strength of the British bombing force, asserting that about 200 bombers raided Bremen and that approximately 25 per cent of them were shot down.

(A British broadcast said that residents of Bremen henceforth would not be permitted to send telegrams to soldiers at the front except through a strict Nazi party censorship designed to prevent disclosure of the RAF bomb destruction at Bremen.)

Canadians, Poles, Czechs and American volunteers of the Royal Air Force joined Britons in the raid in which mammoth four-motored bombers, carrying up to eight tons of bombs each,

GAS RATIONING IN OHIO URGED

Easterners Ask 'Temporary' Restriction to Ease Fuel Situation on Seaboard.

Temporary rationing of gasoline and fuel oil in Ohio and other north central states to provide absolutely essential petroleum for the east was proposed to the government today by a committee of eastern mayors in Washington.

Mayor F. H LaGuardia of New York City headed a committee which urged Petroleum Coordinator Harold Ickes and Transportation Chief J. B Eastman to extend the eastern rationing belt to Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and western New York and Pennsylvania.

Meanwhile eastern states gasolene station employes and motorists were receiving new rationing instructions which set up four gallons as the basic unit for a new program to go into effect in 17 states on July 22.

A program intending to prevent a condition of chilled homes in the east next winter because of the fuel shortage in this area was presented by Walter P Heddon, chief, bureau of commerce, port of New York authority. In addi-

NON-BAPTISING PASTOR RESIGNS

Disagrees With Congregation on Need for Ritual.

AKRON —(AP)—An Akron pastor has resigned in the face of his congregation's insistence that he administer baptism, it was learned today.

The Rev. Raymond Reich, pastor since April 1 of the non-denominational Goodyear Heights community church, said he believed "baptism is no longer necessary to get to heaven" and that he would not "preach what the people want me to preach but only what God calls me to preach."

John Hockman, president of the congregation of 177 members, said "we believe in baptism and he didn't." A meeting held recently voted 48-17 to have the pastor baptise.

18 to 20½ Age Class Registers Tomorrow

1,400 Expected to Enroll In Richland County Saturday and on Final Day Next Tuesday at Five Stations.

More than 1,400 Richland county boys between the ages of 18 to 20 years and six months on or before June 30, today were preparing to participate in the nation's fifth selective service registration, which gets under way tomorrow.

President Roosevelt fixed Tuesday, June 30, between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. as the time for this registration, but Col. C. W. Goble, state selective service director, has designated Saturday, between 12 noon and 6 p. m., as an additional registration day.

It was explained this additional period will be for those men who, by reason of their employment or civilian activities, will be at a disadvantage to present themselves for registration on a single day.

This fifth registration will include all men who were born on or after Jan. 1, 1922, and on or before June 30, 1924, and who have not heretofore registered.

Local boards have received a number of inquiries from parents of boys away at college, asking whether it is necessary for them to come back to Mansfield to register. In such cases the youths may register at a draft board in the city where they are attending school, but those who register away from home are warned to carefully specify their home addresses so that their registration card may be forwarded promptly to their local boards.

There will be five registration points in Richland county. Those living in Mansfield west of Main street, including the west side of Main street, may register at Board 1 headquarters in the Farmers Bank building or at the Legion Home on Park avenue

Motorists who have not purchased the new automobile use tax stamps had better hurry. Only three days are left before the stamps must be displayed on every car in operation on the highway.

Only 1,800 stamps had been sold by the Mansfield postoffice today against an anticipated 12,000 before the deadline July 1, indicating a last minute rush unless a great many motorists expect to conserve tires and gas after July 1.

The sale picked up noticeably yesterday, however, when $1,000 in stamps were sold, according to Postmaster Herman E. Homberger. The new stamp for the fiscal year sells for $5 and each month after July the sale price will decrease.

War Work Waits While 3,500 Lorain Strikers Go Fishing

(By Associated Press)

LORAIN—Approximately 3,500 CIO steelworkers on strike at National Tube company here collected their pay and went fishing today while Pittsburgh officials of the parent company, U. S. Steel Corp., came to Lorain to attend the blowing in of a new blast furnace.

Seeking wage adjustments, members of the CIO's United Steel Workers of America employed in National's war-busy pipe mills, voted not to return to work before they held a meeting scheduled for tomorrow.

The strike threatens to involve 10,000 other National employes here.

The workers ignored their district director, William F. Donovan, who pleaded with them to return to work and explained that the strike is "illegal and a direct violation of a contract signed with the company last April."

The contract runs until one side notifies the other of a desire to alter or break it. Under it, wages begin at 72½ cents an hour for laborers and 78 cents for welders, and the plant average is reported to be 90 cents an hour.

The strike is one of the largest in the steel industry since this country went to war.

In an attempt to end a strike at Akron, George B. Roberts, labor consultant for the war production board, planned to speak at a meeting of 60 mill room employes who went on strike at General Tire and Rubber company when 25 aliens returned to work. This strike held up operations of 1,200 men in General's tire and tubes division.

Russians Abandon Kupyansk After Enemy Hurls Tanks and Planes at City.

SEVASTOPOL HANGS ON

Defenders Fight With Rifles and Bayonets in Ruins of Great Naval Base.

(By United Press)

MOSCOW—A "violent battle" is in progress along the railroad outside the Axis-held railroad junction of Kupyansk, where enemy tank and airplane attacks drove a wedge into the Russian defenses 60 miles southeast of Kharkov, the army newspaper Red Star said today.

Later dispatches from the Kharkov front said that additional German reinforcements were slowly driving eastward against stubborn Soviet resistance on several sectors and had forced the Russians to withdraw from one inhabited point to avoid encirclement

The Russians abandoned Kupyansk, on the Oskol river east of the Donets, after a tremendous enemy attack and bloody fighting in the streets of the town of 20,000, according to the dispatch, which said that German losses were unusually high.

Hundreds of German tanks, supported by aerial squadrons, attacked the railroad junction for many days, finally forcing the Russians to fall back in house-to-house fighting.

The battle continued, however, on the important Moscow-Don basin railroad just outside the town as the Red army sought to prevent the enemy from renewing a major push toward the Caucasus oil fields.

The Red Star also said that new German attacks on the central and north sectors of the German naval base of Sevastopol were repulsed.

Sevastopol, a city in ruins, still held out on the 20th day of the Germans' relentless assault. Most of its buildings were rubble, its parks pocked by bombs and its chestnut and acacia trees splintered and stripped of their springtime leaves, but its defenders repulsed continuous attacks with rifle and bayonet, inflicting cas-

Quit Jobs Over 18-Minute Work Stoppage.

PONTIAC, Mich. —(INS)— A strike of 10,000 workers in protest against the threatened loss of 18-minutes pay due to a blackout test today paralyzed four Pontiac plants of the Yellow Truck and Coach company said to be the world's largest producers of army trucks.

The strike, according to UAW-CIO Regional Director William McAulay, was not authorized by the international union but was voted by officers of Local 594 of the union.

McAulay said day shift workers who this morning found picket lines about the plants were put on strike in sympathy to night-shift employes who gave "unanimous approval" of the work stoppage.

Get 'Last Letters' Missing Son Wrote On Eve of Battle

From their sailor-son now listed as "missing in action," a Mansfield father and mother today received a packet of letters—including one which he wrote just before the start of a sea battle and gave to his commanding officer to mail in case he failed to return.

William Sawhill

The sailor is William Sawhill, 22, radio man and gunner on a torpedo plane attached to an aircraft carrier in Pacific service. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sawhill, 409 West Fourth street.

Accompanying the three letters from William was a letter written by the commanding officer of the carrier, who said:

"I am enclosing letters which your son asked be forwarded in case of his failure to return."

The officer's letter expressed sympathy and added:

"Since all our aircraft carry rubber life rafts there is a chance

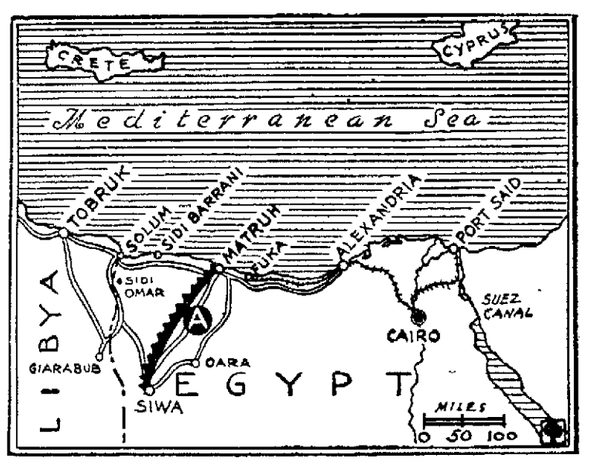
Battle of Matruh Approaches



The British Eighth army was reported preparing to make a stand today on the line (A in the map above) between Matruh and Siwa in northern Egypt in the face of a driving invasion by Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces which has brought the Axis within 30 miles of Matruh A decisive battle is expected to develop shortly at the northern end of the line.

Reveals U. S. Produced 4,000 Planes In May

President Reports War Factories Also Turned Out More Than 1,500 Tanks And 50,000 Machine Guns.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt disclosed today that America's mighty war effort, in the single month of May, had turned out nearly 4,000 planes and more than 1,500 tanks.

Releasing official war production figures for the first time since Pearl Harbor, the chief executive asserted in a statement that this country also turned out nearly 2,000 artillery and anti-tank guns in May, and these were exclusive of anti-aircraft guns and those to be mounted in tanks.

The may output of machine guns exceeded 50,000 weapons of all types, including infantry, aircraft and anti-aircraft. If submachine guns are added on, the total passes 100,000

Mr. Roosevelt released these figures because, he said, they are going to give the Axis just the opposite of "aid and comfort." "We are well on our way," he declared, "toward achieving the rate of production which will bring us to our goals."

The last announced objectives of the war production program, told of in the president's annual message to congress last January, were 185,000 planes in 1942 and 1943, 120,000 tanks, 55,000 anti-aircraft guns.

The chief executive, in citing

SATURDAY TO BE 'RUBBER DAY'

Governor Urges All to Look Again For Scrap in Homes and on Properties.

Governor Bricker, in telegrams to all mayors of the state, today proclaimed Saturday as Ohio Rubber Day and at the same time appealed to farmers to assist in the drive for scrap rubber.

Mayor W. J. Locke announced receipt of the telegram from Bricker, and seconded his appeal for all residents to gather up every bit of scrap rubber in their homes and on their properties. The governor reported that a survey showed 31 per cent of the state's residents had "not even looked for scrap rubber."

Robert O. Weible, chairman of the state salvage committee, said at Columbus that a return to the farm for "a second look" was necessary because of the large amount of scrap still untouched.

In Richland county, this salvage material on farms and at points not accessible to filling stations is being collected by county trucks. C L. Hartenfels, county scrap rubber collection chairman, urged all farm residents to notify their township trustees if they had rubber to be picked up.

Hartenfels reported that 44,569 pounds of scrap was sold and 1,347

SLAYINGS MOUNT

Reports Say Nearly 1,000 Killed in Reprisals.

LONDON—(AP)—Reports reaching Czech government sources through neutral countries indicated today that the total of victims in the continuing Nazi reprisals since the killing of Reinhard Heydrich, Gestapo chief for Bohemia-Moravia, was approaching the 1,000 mark.

It was reported that 93 Czechs were executed on June 19 and June 20 in Prague and Bruenn (Brno), the victims including judges, lawyers, factory managers, university professors and school teachers of both sexes.

The latest major reprisal by the Germans was the obliteration of the farming village of Lezaky, population 100, about 70 miles southeast of Prague, announced yesterday. All adult males were reported slain and women and children presumably were carried away to concentration camps and state schools.

Stores to 'Close Shop' for 15 Minutes and Sell Bonds

The Mansfield Retail Merchants' association launched plans today for the city's participation in a nation-wide effort starting July 1 to sell war savings bonds and stamps over the counters of retail stores.

This will start at noon next Wednesday, when merchants will declare a 15-minute "moratorium" on sale of their regular merchandise—and sell nothing in that period but war bonds and stamps. The committee is making elaborate plans for a celebration to bring all Mansfielders downtown at the noon hour.

Named by the association as a special committee to arrange details of the event are Merle Pecht, chairman, R. M. Calene, Joy M. Herbert, M. J. Stanley and P. M. Eliot.

The Merchants' association announced receipt of a telegram from Benjamin Namm, chairman of the retail advisory committee of the Treasury Department at Washington, urging all retailers to cooperate in "the nationwide tribute to America's war effort on July 1st at 12 noon by suspending all sales of merchandist for 15 minutes and devoting this brief period to sale of war savings stamps and bonds exclusively."

Pecht said full details of the local event would be announced Sunday.

CAIRO—(U.P.)—An RAF communique today said that United States army planes again participated in a heavy bombing attack on Bengasi and Tobruk, main Axis bases in Libya on Wednesday and Thursday nights.

(By Associated Press)

CAIRO—British headquarters announced today that leading elements of Axis forces were 30 miles west of Matruh, after advancing approximately 100 miles into Egypt.

British covering forces are engaging the advancing enemy troops, the communique said, but the latter have not yet engaged the main body of the British Eighth army, which was reported drawn up before Matruh for a decisive stand.

The main Axis column is moving along the coast, in line with the railway which runs eastward from Matruh to Alexandria, 160 miles airline way.

At least two lighter columns were reported driving eastward along parallel lines further inland.

The swiftness of the Axis advance, impeded only by light rearguard action, made it virtually certain that the main bodies of the two opposing forces soon would be locked in a decisive battle, on the outcome of which the whole situation in the Middle East may well depend.

The British apparently were pinning their hopes of victory

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA—(INS)—Heavy destruction was wrought in concerted United Nations air attacks against three important Japanese bases spread over a wide area of the southwest Pacific, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters revealed today.

Billi, on the occupied Dutch-Portuguese island of Timor, Rabaul, New Britain and Salamaua, New Guinea, were subjected to heavy bombings by Allied airmen.

Flying in a low altitude for a surprise night attack the United Nations fliers scored direct bomb hits on Japanese occupied buildings at Dilli on the north coast of Timor. Damaging fires resulted from the attack. All of the Allied fliers returned safely to their base.

A night attack also was conducted against Rabaul. The Allied air forces were said by Gen. MacArthur to have successfully bombed airdrome runways and building areas at the New Britain enemy base.

largely on the geographical advantages of their defense line and on the possibility that Field Marshall Rommel's lines of communication, now extending far across the desert, may not be equal to the occasion.

Dispatches from the front indicated that the Eighth army still was a formidable fighting force despite the battering it received in Libya and that it would be able to give a good account of itself.

Against this force Rommel was reported throwing into action every ounce of striking power at his disposal. This includes the German 21st and 15th armored divisions, the Italian Ariete "battering ram" mechanized division and a great supporting mass of motorized infantry.

The Axis chieftain was reported to be filling up the gaps which were knocked in his equipment during the fighting in Libya by pressing into service recently-captured British and American-built tanks and trucks.

In his haste to strike swiftly and give the British no chance to reorganize their forces, Rommel did not even take time to revamp this equipment, merely daubing swastikas on the sides of captured tanks before sending them into action.

The Matruh line along which the British have taken their stand is approximately 60 miles east of Sidi Barrani beyond which the Axis forces pushed day before yesterday.

Matruh is the western terminus of a railway which extends along the coast to Alexandria, approximately 160 miles to the east by airline.

Nazis Claim Bombing of Troops, Railway

BERLIN — (From German Broadcasts) —(AP)— Nazi fighters and divebombers heavily attacked retreating British troops in North Africa yesterday and pounded the railway line running eastward from Matruh to Alexandria, the Germans reported today.

Large fires were started in supply dumps which the British had established in the Matruh area in preparation for a stand, advices from the front declared.

Direct hits also were reported scored on grounded British planes and three were said to have been shot down in dogfights.

Allies Facing Critical Week

LONDON — (AP) — The swift Axis advance into Egypt, coupled with a new German drive pointed at Russia's Caucasus, is likely to make the next week one of the most critical of the war for the Allies, military experts declared today.

These quarters estimated that Field Marshal Erwin Hommel could throw approximately 100,000 men into an attempt to smash the British defense line before Matruh, on which the fate of Egypt and the entire Allied position in the Middle East may depend.

The gravity of the situation in Egypt was emphasized by a former member of the cabinet, who declared in an interview:

"If Egypt goes our control of the Middle East and our chances of aiding Russia through Persia go with it. A defeat in Egypt would open the way for Axis control of Africa, Europe and Asia through possession of the eastern hemisphere's main crossroads."

An informed source in Cairo was quoted in London as saying that the British position at Matruh represented a "last ditch" stand.

"There is practically nothing else between this position and Alexandria and Cairo," he declared grimly.

Military circles expected that Rommel would waste no time in attacking, for his hopes of success hinges on a quick blow before the eighth army can be regrouped and re-equipped.

Open Drive To End California's Income Tax Law

LOS ANGELES — (INS) — The growing drive for repeal of California's state income tax as "a duplicate tax upon the average wage-earner and industrious citizen" has been brought to the action stage by the circulation of petitions to place the issue on the November ballot.

Herbert L. Cornish, president of the recently formed Tax Repeal association, endorsed federal income taxes as necessary to win the war, but declared the sales tax and other taxes were sufficient for California's needs.

The association argued that the income tax not only is unnecessary for state government, but also usurps that amount from war needs.

"The tax was originally adopted to meet a threatened emergency in financing the public schools and as a relief to property tax payers," the association said. "The emergency did not develop, and there has been no relief to the taxpayers."

The Department of Commerce has files on 600,000 foreign business firms.

U-BOAT VICTIM ASKS REVENGE

Pittsburgher Aboard Ships Torpedoed By Same Axis Submarine.

(By United Press)

PITTSBURGH—When a German submarine torpedoed and sunk a merchant ship on which he was first mate early in the war, August Hartmann "took it" with the stoic calm of an old seaman.

But when the same submarine sunk, without warning, another ship Hartmann was serving aboard and he recognized the U-boat skipper as the same one he had talked with during the first incident, the veteran first mate became annoyed.

So now he wants revenge, and has unsuccessfully tried to enlist in the army, navy, coast guard and marines. They tell him that his teeth aren't good enough, but Hartmann hasn't given up.

It was back in November, 1939, that Hartmann, 47, as first mate of S. S. Romney, had his first encounter with the U-boat skipper. The Romney was torpedoed several hundred miles off the coast of Ireland after giving the crew time to abandon ship.

At that time, Hartmann had his first "chat" with the commander of the raiding vessel. The crew was adrift for only a few hours before an American ship picked them up.

Last fall, Hartmann, first mate on the S. S. Empire Attendant, found out that it is a small world, after all. His ship was torpedoed without warning, in approximately the same position.

About 25 of the Empire Attendant's crew were lost but Hartmann, who has been at sea since he was 15, put into a lifeboat with the survivors. The sub came to the surface so the captain could talk with the men and identify the ship he had sunk.

Hartmann found the skipper was the same one he had talked with the last time his ship went down.

"He was very polite and spoke perfect English," the first mate said. "But he said he didn't like to see the same man twice."

This time Hartmann was picked up by a destroyer and landed in England.

Richland county's three boards today were notified officially to conform to the congressional mandate to draft married men last.

In Richland county where the supply of single men is exhausted, many married men are certain to be called for induction next month and in August.

Board 3 has already notified scores of married men to report for induction late in July. In such cases, the new induction plan will not be effective. Local boards were told by state headquarters that quotas must be met and if married men have been ordered to report at a specific time, the orders will be carried out.

State headquarters outlined the procedure to the boards by telling them that men were to be selectd according to the following categories:

1. Registrants otherwise qualified who have no dependents.

2. Registrants who have financial dependents, such as parents or even a wife or child, but with whom they do not maintain a family relationship.

3. Registrants who do not have children but who maintain a home with their wives, providing they were married before Sept. 8, 1941, and whose induction then was not imminent.

4. Registrants who maintain homes with their wives and children.

In one of his letters, William urged his parents to remember that "we may go down at sea and turn up weeks or even years later." He recalled the incident of three sailors being rescued after 45 days on a rubber raft.

"So you see there is always a chance," he wrote.

"This letter," Mrs. Sawhill said today, "has brought me more comfort than I ever believed I could receive. My hope is that it may be a comfort, too, to other mothers."

The letter contained a number of personal references, and said, in part:

"This letter will be mailed only if I do not get through battle, which we expect to come off at almost any hour. I am making a request that this be mailed as soon as possible after I fail to return.

patterned a target area of almost unequalled importance in all Germany.

Criss-crossing Bremen, a city of 350,000, in an intricate pattern which Air Marshal Sir A. T. Harris, commanding the bomber command, had worked out to the last detail, the planes hurled bombs up to 4,480 pounds in weight on such targets as the Deschimag and Atlas submarine works, shipyards large enough to build transatlantic luxury liners, a dive bomber factory, the giant Focke-Wulff airplane works, cotton mills and the largest high grade oil refinery in Germany.

Bremen had had its last attack, one of the 300 plane level which is now of secondary importance for the Royal Air Force, on the night of June 3.

Today's was the 95th British attack on the city since the war started.

Germans Admit Raid Damages Bremen

BERLIN — (From German broadcasts) —(AP)— The RAF attacked Bremen and several other places in the northwest coastal region of Germany last night, causing civilian casualties and doing damage with incendiary bombs, principally to residences and public buildings, the German high command declared today.

Fifty-two of the attacking planes were shot down by night fighters, anti-aircraft fire and naval artillery, a communique said

Report Bremen Raid Second to Cologne

STOCKHOLM —(U.P.)— A Swedish telegraph bureau dispatch from Berlin said today that last night's British air raid on Bremen was the biggest since Cologne and that many persons were killed and many houses destroyed or damaged.

Litvinov Talks New Front at Conference

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill have conducted "extended and most important conferences" with Soviet Ambassador Maxim Litvinov in their current formulation of grand strategy designed to win the war, the White House disclosed today.

The disclosure that Litvinov had met and talked with the two Anglo-American leaders seemed to indicate that an eventual second land front in Europe, long sought by the Soviet Union, was still uppermost in current calculations.

Both the United States and Great Britain have formally committed themselves to Russia as recognizing the urgency of creating a new front in Europe that would relieve the German pressure on Soviet lines.

White House Secretary Stephen T. Early also disclosed that while the president and Churchill were talking to Litvinov, "conferences with military, naval and air officers — meaning those of Great Britain, the United States and Russia—are taking place simultaneously."

SUB HI-JACKS YACHTING PARTY

Holds Women Hostage, Forces Men To Obtain Food in Cuba.

HAVANA — (INS) — An Axis submarine hi-jacked a yachting party and forced them to obtain provisions for the crew, the newspaper Prensa Libre reported today. The submarine surfaced off the northwest coast of Cuba and halted the yacht on which four prominent Havana couples were cruizing, the account said.

The women were held as hostages while the men sailed their vessel into port and purchased $350 worth of food for the submarine. When they returned the food was exchanged for the women, according to Presna Libre. The submarine captain provided the funds for the provisions.

pounds donated to filling stations yesterday, bringing to 221,991 pounds the total collected to date at filling stations in and near Mansfield. County Engineer H. C. Sword listed the collections by county trucks, as of noon Thursday at 9,350 pounds.

Hartenfels emphasized that the collection will continue through next Tuesday, and "even longer if necessary." He appealed to residents of the county to increase their efforts to find scrap rubber and turn it in during the final days of the collection.

An impressive heap of scrap rubber articles was collected yesterday at the Madison theater, where children were admitted to a special show Thursday morning on presentation of one article of scrap rubber.

Definite figures on the collection throughout the nation during the first week of the campaign were received here today. These showed that the amount collected per person in Ohio titalled .98 of a pound, considerably lower than many other states. Nevada and Montana, for example, reported collection of more than 11 pounds per person. California, which has almost the same population as Ohio, led the nation with 22,994,000 pounds—three and a third per person. Ohio's total collection during the first week totalled 6,800,000 pounds.

The state salvage committee reported at Columbus that Roy Williams, Medina service station operator, had collected the largest single pile of scrap in the state. Williams donated 17½ tons of old tires, rubber shoes, rain coats, girdles, garden hose and miscellaneous scrap. The committee said Williams was forced to turn away gasoline customers because his driveway was filled with scrap rubber.

If they desire, those who bring the scrap rubber aticles to filling stations are paid for them at the rate of a penny a pound.

PREDICT SECOND FRONT COMMAND

London Sources See Quick Action To Unify Control.

LONDON—(AP)—Quick creation of a unified command to weld American, British and Canadian forces into a coordinated fighting team for a blow against the European continent was predicted today by qualified quarters.

To these observers, the arrival of Maj. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as commander in the European theater of operations for American forces, meant one thing:

The stage of preliminary planning has passed to a phase of active preparation for using the powerful armies assembled in Britain.

MAP PLANS FOR OBSERVANCE OF 4TH AT GALION

Ox Roast, Fireworks Feature Program To Be Held at Heise Park.

GALION — Plans were mapped for Galion's Fourth of July celebration to be held at Heise park under the sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce when committees held a meeting Thursday night at City hall.

A patriotic celebration with a full-day observance stressing civilian defense is being planned by the group.

One of the attractions will include an ox roast in the evening. Contests will be offered in swimming, diving, tennis, horseshoe and other park sports.

Also slated on the program is a double-header ball game to be played between the Galion Jaycees and the Marion Hawks of the Ohio State league.

Fireworks in keeping with the war-time program will be displayed as a climax to the day's events, it has been announced by the general chairman of arrangements.

Roland Flowers, new president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, is general chairman.

Other committee members are Ox roast, O. G. Miller, Ed Guinup, Donald Sherer, Robert Spangler, William Amick, Hergert Newhouse;; fireworks, Grant Uumer, Ralph Deibig, Lee Lake;; contests, Lowell Flowers; advertising, Keith Neely, William MacAdam; ticket sales on bonds, Marvin Adams, Lee Lake, A. C. Gledhill, jr., Louis Girton; solicitation, Oris Brown and Merrit McElroy.

COURT NEWS IN ASHLAND COUNTY

ASHLAND—Action to clarify a section of the will of the late Urias P. Fulmer of Ruggles township has been filed in Common Pleas Court by William M. Thudum, executor of the will, with C. C. Bailey and others as defendants.

The will of Fulmer, who died March 3, 1941, bequeathed $7,000 for a monument to be erected on the public school grounds at Nova, to bear an inscription erected by Urias P. and Margaretha Fulmer and that a suitable piece of artillery be placed by the side or near the side of the monument. The executor asks the court to rule on what is meant by a monument and to determine if it should be a stone monument, a library in connection with the school or other monument.

A divorce has been granted in common pleas court to Paul E. Ammons in his suit against Ruby M. Ammons on grounds of gross neglect.

In a cross petition filed in common pleas court in the divorce suit of William F. Berry against Minnie Berry, the defendant asks a divorce on grounds of gross neglect and extreme cruelty. She also asks restoration of her maiden name of Jameyson. A temporary injunction has been granted Mrs. Berry restraining William F. Berry from disposing of any of his property.

Time for Action, Not Overconfidence

RECOLLECTION of confident expressions that preceded the fall of Hongkong, Singapore, Corregidor and Tobruk is too fresh in mind to make Prime Minister Churchill's assertion that Great Britain can hold Egypt as convincing as it might otherwise be.

This is what everybody in the United Nations is prayerfully hoping, but the lightning speed with which Rommel's mechanized forces wrested Tobruk from the apparently safe custody of Britain, and the energy with which he is now pursuing a course into Egypt weakens the confidence which might otherwise be felt in the ability of the British to turn back the invaders and regain lost ground.

Axis gains in North Africa are recognized as a further threat to the vital Suez Canal and increase the danger of eventual junction of German and Japanese forces in the Indian ocean area.

With the outcome of the war in Russia still in doubt, and much depending on Great Britain and the United States making every possible contribution to Red army success, also giving substantial aid to China, it appears that this is a time for action, not words, and that even so competent a man as Winston Churchill might better SHOW what Great Britain CAN do than make further optimistic predictions as to what he thinks it will do.

While there is justification for confident belief that the United Nations CAN AND WILL eventually defeat the Axis powers, that belief has not been supported by accomplishments to date and the task yet remains to be done—by superiority of military force and competently handled offensive action, not by unsupported claims, unfulfilled promises—and not even by countless billions of dollars poured into the war effort.

More and more is President Roosevelt being confirmed in his expressed belief that this will be "a long, hard war."

Sugar Rationing Need Questioned

THROUGH members of congress, as is quite proper, widespread protests against sugar rationing are being carried to appointive officials who devised this plan and who have authority to change or abandon it.

While assurance has been given that "there will be plenty of sugar for home canning," the long waits and the red tape in connection with getting purchase permits have discouraged or annoyed would-be canners to the extent of causing many of them to abandon the idea and allow fruit to go to waste.

It is now predicted that "a more liberal sugar rationing system will be adopted in the near future," because of improvement in the supply situation and congressional protests.

Apparent difficulty of some retailers in getting an adequate supply of sugar is credited to faulty distribution methods, as warehouses over the country are bulging with a steadily increasing supply and one large refinery in Texas has been compelled to shut down because the 20,000,000 pounds of sugar on hand is the extent of its storage capacity.

Congressman A. D. Baumhart, of the neighboring district to the north, tells of having received scores of protests from canners in the lake shore orchard section, who are confronted with losing large amounts of fruit through inability to secure sugar.

Congressman Dewey Short, of Missouri, hit the nail on the head when he said: "It's crazy as hell to pay beet farmers for not growing sugar beets, and Florida farmers for not growing sugar cane while Ozark strawberries rot because there is no sugar for canning."

Another thing to be taken into account in estimating probable sugar needs, is that hoarders are already well supplied with sugar bought before rationing started, so that restoration of unrestricted buying will have no other effect than to supply the normal needs of families that have been making a conscientious effort to comply with rationing regulations.

A mild attempt to more quickly reduce the unwieldy surplus of sugar in warehouses is seen in the OPA order permitting purchase of two pounds of sugar on the No. 5 ration coupon, although this will cover a four-weeks period, instead of two weeks, as heretofore. This coupon becomes valid next Monday and before its expiration further loosening of restrictions may be deemed advisable by the Office of Price Administration, under pressure of congressmen who are continuing to hear from their constituents.

The Job of Getting To Work

EXPERTS say the most important part of the human transportation problem now is to get workers to their jobs. Whatever is done about automobiles and tires, nothing can be allowed to interfere with this industrial transportation.

Thus factory employes become persons to be recognized and deferred to. In case of a shortage of conveyances, they may yet take precedence over mere merchants and professional people. If ordinary forms of transportation failed, it might be necessary to provide special buses for them.

For the present, however, the automobile problem seems to be easing up somewhat, except in the eastern tier of states, and private cars and public buses mostly still seem to serve the purpose. Bicycles carry more and more workers, both white-collar and dinner-pail.

Good Neighbor Tennis Matches

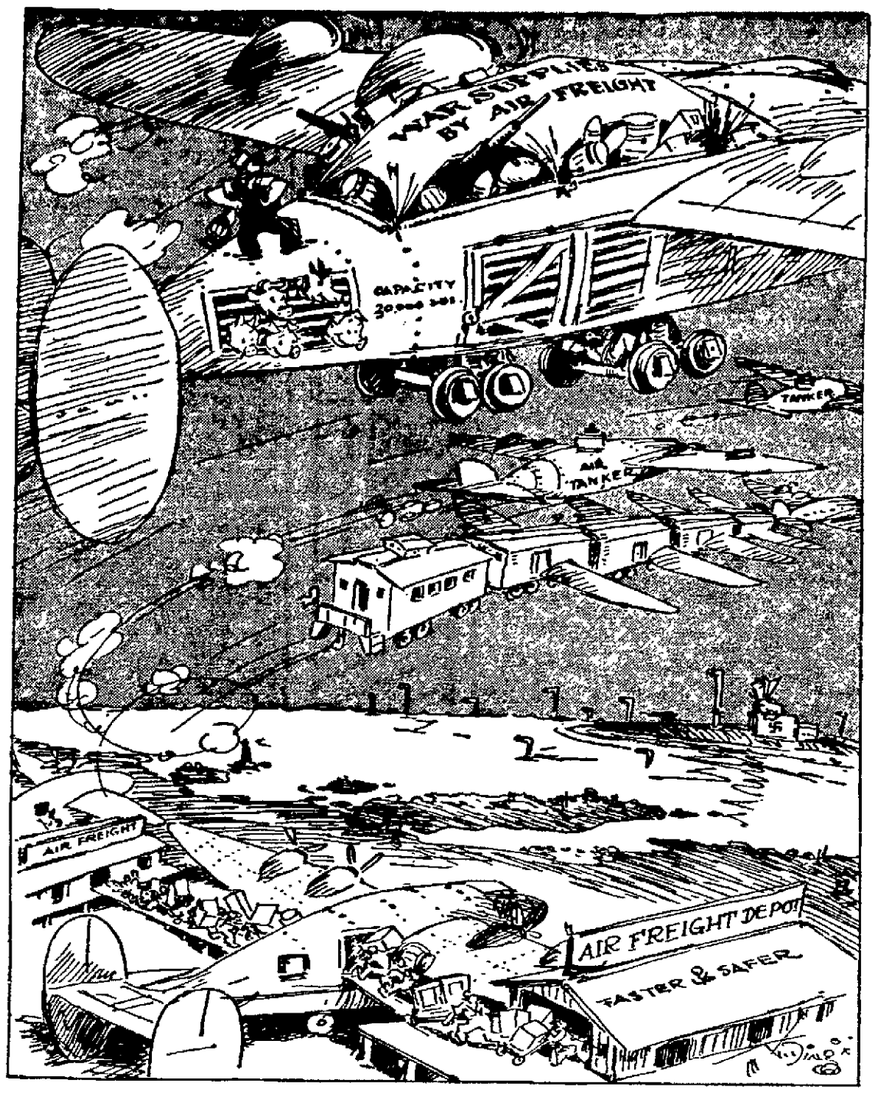
OUR Latin American relations should improve shortly, including those with Argentina. Two leading South American tennis players, Alejo Russell of Argentina and Francisco Segura of Ecuador, are to take part in the tournaments here this summer.

This friendly competition ought to improve the feelings between our country and theirs, if our spectators will only keep from getting too excited. The last Olympic games worked national rivalry up to such a fever heat that they did positive harm to international friendship. Tennis supremacy will perhaps be taken less seriously.

After doing something "a little bad" is is always much easier to do something considerably worse.

According to Will Durant: "Men may be friends, but women can only be acquaintances."

WILL IT FINALLY COME TO THIS?



Listen World!

To the Old-Timers

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

I'M WRITING this to the Old-Timers who, like myself, saw the first World war or even the Spanish war. Not so old in years, most of us, but feeling pretty old in spirit these days.

Only yesterday, so it seems, we were kids. Enthusiastic kids. All burned up about the Maine, all cheering for Dewey. Or shouting for Pershing. And now, something has happened. Something we never expected.

While we've been working away at our jobs, the years have crept up on us . . . the enthusiasm has cooled down in us. We didn't know it was happening. We felt, and still feel, as young as ever. But suddenly, according to the public viewpoint, we're Has-Beens—and it's hard to take.

We can still run our homes and our shops as efficiently as ever. When it comes to a long pull, we have more endurance than our own children and grandchildren. We have learned the secret of true courage, learned to look Life in the face...and spit in its eye, if necessary. Our brains are sharper than they were 20 years ago and our wits are keener. But the public, looking at our gray hairs and wrinkles, thinks we're washed up.

We're not washed up! That's why I'm writing you today—you who are working over your stoves or behind your counters or factory benches, with sick dissillusionment gnawing at your heart. We're not washed up, we who have seen and made history. We have still a job to do, the greatest job on earth.

Our bodies aren't as light as they were. Personally I'm hunched up with an A-1 case of lumbago as I write this. But there's no lumbago in my mind or my spirit—or in yours. There's a knowledge no kid can possess, a poise no juvenile youngster has achieved. We have seen America made and we have helped in the making.

AND NOW IT IS UP TO US TO KEEP THE FAITH WHICH MADE AMERICA.

We cannot fight at the front, physically. But we can fight behind the lines where the struggle is even more important. These youngsters of whom we are so proud may defend, America. But it is up to us to remember what America means...to know what America needs...to know that if America is licked. God's greatest plan for man will be dealt a mortal blow.

Ours is the second front, the home front. It isn't as exciting to be working on the home front as it would be flying on the first front or diving in a submarine or firing guns on a destroyer. The roar and screech of bombs and machine guns are infinitely more stimulating than the bubbling of a teakettle or the measuring of yard goods in some village store.

YET THE BUBBLING OF THAT TEA KETTLE AND THE MEASURING OF THOSE YARD GOODS ARE AS ESSENTIAL TO AMERICAN DEMOCRACY AS THE HORROR AND CLAMOR OF THE BATTLE FRONT.

FOR A WAR IS NOT WON BY GUNS. IT IS WON BY FAITH AND LOYALTY. FAITH IN GOODNESS AND FRIENDLINESS AND FAIR PLAY . . . LOYALTY TO THOSE GLIMPSES OF GOD WHICH COME TO US EVEN IN OUR WEAKEST MOMENTS.

Don't be discouraged, Old-Timer. Fill yourself with a flame instead. Fill yourself with the pride and glory and divine responsibility of holding the line against the forces of evil . . . of backing the young, inexperienced spirits who man the guns.

Once in our youth we drew strength from the faith of our fathers. Now our children must draw strength from us. Let us not sully that faith with our own peevishness and despair. Let us pass it on to them unsullied, bright with that hope which made America.

She wants to share that burden. She wants you to write to her about it. Go on—do it. Take a chance. She's a good pal. Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Monday, June 26, 1922.

Newly installed grill at Elks' home was opened, with W. Sherman Bell as manager.

W. F. Voegele, H. G. Brunner and Harry W. Roberts went to Davenport, Ia., to attend national Grotto meeting.

Charles W. Dickson, 59, died at his home, 195 West Third street.

Louis D. Barr, former Mansfield attorney, was here from Olympia, Wash., for a visit.

Son born to Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Johnson, 273 Wayne street; son to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones, 264 Park avenue west.

P. M. Wooden elected president of the Exchange club.

Capacity audience attended benefit performance given at Opera House for Mansfield nurses.

Charles Wagner, lineman for OPS, narrowly escaped electrocution by contact with live wire at work.

TODAY IN HISTORY

June 26, in the year 1824, marked the birth of Lord Kelvin, British physicist, at Belfast, Ireland. Although Kelvin's contributions to thermodynamics may properly be regarded as his most important scientific work, it is in the field of electricity, especially in its application to submarine telegraphy, that Kelvin is best known to the world.

Health And Diet

Health Questions Are Answered.

—By DR. CLENDENING

J. B. S.:—Is it possible for a physician to make a short, 18-year-old boy grow by giving him glandular extracts or injections?

Answer: No. The only instances in which height has been increased have been in people much younger than this.

G. M. E.:—Are active thyroid and active goiter the same thing and if not, what are the symptoms of active goiter?

Answer: This question was asked by a person whose doctor has told him that there is perhaps a slight enlargement of the thyroid, but that it would not give him any trouble. The symptoms that bother him are the feeling of a lump in the throat and pain in the chest. These symptoms it seems to me are mostly nervous in type and have no relation to the thyroid and he had better forget them.

R. L.: Can a woman at the age of 66 get tuberculosis?

Answer: Cases of acquired tuberculosis are very rare in adults and at the age of 66 I would say such infection never occurs.

A. W.: Do you think the head of a bed being raised up 12 inches is of any benefit to a person with low blood pressure?

Answer: No.

B. F.:—Can a man of 64 be successfully operated on for varicose veins?

Answer: Yes. They usually occur in people past middle age.

Timely Editorial

About Offering Rides.

"Perhaps you can say something," urges a St. Louis Park woman, "about the people who live in the suburbs and drive to town daily with empty seats in their cars. As I stand on the boulevard waiting for the bus, an average of eight cars a minute pass me with from one to three empty seats."

Yes, I can say something. I think it's every driver's duty to proffer a ride. But, as a driver, I've pulled up alongside many a waiting girl or group of people, made the offer only to be turned down. You get that down-the-nose look from three or four and you start feeling like a masher. So you decide to let them mind their business while you mind your own.

I've always been very much against hitchhiking as a practice, but, in these tough transportation times, I think it can be countenanced to a degree. If people waiting for the bus or trolley took a little of the initiative and spoke an "Are you going downtown?" to the average driver, he'd pick them up.—Cedric Adams in the Minneapolis Star-Journal.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Donald Nelson Backs Down After Senator Truman's Angry Rebuke

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

THAT unpublished letter Donald Nelson sent members of the Truman committee, in an effort to stop the report that blasted some of his top $1-a-year men, actually was the handiwork of two of Nelson's key aides.

One was John Lord O'Brian, WPB general counsel and former corporation lawyer, who several months ago whitewashed some $1-men assailed by the Truman committee. The other was Sidney Weinberg, Wall Street banker and executive assistant to Nelson.

Before sending the letter to the committee, Nelson summoned top WPB executives and informed them of his intention to confer personally with the committee and tell it what was what.

"I'm going up there tomorrow morning," Nelson said, "and put them in their places. They can't push me around. I won't stand for these attacks. They are not helping the war effort."

Nelson went "up there" all right, but before he got through he was singing a different tune.

The committee quietly listened to him as he criticized the report and urged elimination of its caustic strictures against his $1-a-year masterminds.

Then when Nelson finished, Senator Truman opened up. Ordinarily the bespectacled Missourian is one of the mildest mannered men on Capitol Hill. But when he does get angry, he gets very angry.

Nelson Backs Down.

MR. NELSON," snapped Truman, "for your information this committee is under mandate from the United States senate to investigate the administration of the war program. The members of this committee are just as much interested in winning the war as you and your assistants. In our work we give anyone who has any connection with a case a fair and full hearing. We have no axes to grind and there is no politics in this committee.

"On several occasions you have taken it upon yourself to infer questionable motives to this committee and have kicked me in the teeth. You have not only kicked me but you have kicked the United States senate in the teeth. Now, it may be that I am not as big as you are, but the United States senate is bigger than you are. And you don't want to forget that this committee is a body of the United States senate and neither you nor anyone else is kicking it or pushing it around."

Truman's sizzling retort was hotly echoed by Senators Ralph Brewster of Maine, Joe Ball of Minnesota, (Republicans) and Jim Mead of New York (Democrat). They vigorously backed up Truman and made it plain that Nelson had no business trying to pressure the committee into whitewashing his $1-a-year assistants.

Whereupon Nelson pulled in his horns and began placating the committee. He said he had no thought of questioning its integrity and assured members he held them in the highest esteem. Concluding, Nelson asked that he be allowed to withdraw his letter.

"You can withdraw it if you want to," said Truman, "but I am going to keep my copy."

Later, when a colleague asked Truman if he thought Nelson would oust Philip Reed, No. 3 WPB chief, whom the committee singled out for especially severe condemnation, Truman replied, "I don't know, but it seems to me a very simple question—which Nelson thinks bigger, Reed or the United States senate."

Note—Despite Nelson's staunch defense of Reed, WPB insiders are offering odds that he soon will return to his $100,000 job as chairman of General Electric.

Utilities In Saddle.

TEXAS congressmen are threatening to investigate a quiet piece of obstructionism by certain members of the power division of the War Production Board which they believe is undermining some of the things Roosevelt has stood for most vigorously—public power.

The incident involves the town of Winters, Tex., which wanted to build its own municipal power plant. It had quarreled with the West Texas Utilities, a subsidiary of Midwest Utilities, and had bought all its equipment and started construction of its own plant before the war.

The other day, however, the city fathers of Winters, Tex., got a telegram from the War Production Board, ordering it to stop construction.

Since the city has its materials already on hand and its poles already in the ground, its officials were mystified by the order and came to Washington to find out what had happened. So far they have been given pretty much of a run-around.

Meanwhile they have been paying interest at $540.10 per month on their investment, and have already paid out $124,000 on the plant. To end the delays, the Winters, Tex., city council offered to buy out the Midwest Utilities plant at a price to be decided upon by a third party. But this was refused.

Finally A. L. Hogan and W. O. Coe of Winters discovered what appears to be the root of the trouble. It came from Ellsworth J. Hand, formerly of the Potomac Electric Power company, but now an official of the War Production Board's pro-utility power division.

After a long argument, during which Hand flatly refused to reach any compromise, Hogan finally said:

"Then your position is that these engines could stand on the floor of the factory and deteriorate and no preference rating would be granted to us for their use?"

"Yes," Hand shot back.

"Then the way the situation stands is that this country has been turned over to the private utilities?" was the Texan's final query.

"That's right," replied Hand, "the private utilities will run this country, at least until the war is over."

Willkie Spikes Nye.

WENDELL WILLKIE'S luncheon with Republican senators wasn't as cordial as reporters were told it was.

There was a hostile flareup between Willkie and torrid isolationist Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, which had the other guests on the edge of their chairs for a few tense moments. The incident occurred unexpectedly.

Nye arrived late and apparently in the friendliest of moods. He rushed over and shook hands warmly with Willkie. Willkie cordially returned the greeting. Neither he nor the other guests were prepared for Nye's next move.

The North Dakotan suddenly remarked, "Mr. Willkie, I was very much delighted with the statement you made the other day."

"What statement do you mean?" asked Willkie.

"You know the statement, I mean," snapped Nye. "The one in which you declared that you wouldn't be a candidate for public office any more."

You could have heard a pin drop as the two men eyed one another. For a moment, Willkie made no reply to the provocative thrust. Then, with a derisive chuckle, he quietly replied:

"A very pretty witticism, Senator—very pretty, indeed. But I guess your wish was father to the thought. You happen to have your facts balled up. I said nothing of the kind. What I said was that I would not be a candidate for office this year."

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Recent summaries of the drama season have blamed the stalwarts of the theater, mostly playwrights for the unsatisfactory year that has just come to its unhappy and unprosperous end. No praise is bestowed on them for having tried, but there is a good deal of censure for their having tried and failed. It is noticeable that when the reliable dramatists deliver inferior work the criticism is sharper than when the less well known dramatists fail with equal thoroughness.

Not a few Pulitzer Prize dramatists were targets of the season-end scolding. Maxwell Anderson was upbraided for "Candle In the Wind," which, after all the bad words against it, served Helen Hayes with a highly profitable tour. Another prize-winner, George S. Kaufman, was excoriated for "The Land Is Bright," on which he collaborated with the Pulitzer Prize novelist, Edna Ferber.

STILL another, Marc Connelly, author of the memorable "The Green Pastures," returned after a long absence with a disappointing play, "The Flowers of Virtue." Like his honored fellows, he was severely dealt with. Dramatists never blessed with Pulitzer honors, yet celebrated as first rate workmen, discovered the scornful side of criticism for their efforts. Clifford Odets, Ben Hecht, Charles MacArthur, Paul Vincent Carroll, Ferenc Molnar, Samson Raphaelson, and Henri Bernstein all suffered failures.

The general hostility extended to distinguished players, not for their own lack of skill as actors but because they had chosen their vehicles unwisely. These wrong guessers included Paul Muni, Fredric March, Heather Angel, Edmund Gwynn, Fay Wray, Tallulah Bankhead, Jane Cowl, Ruth Gordon, Mischa Auer, Bruce Cabot, Katharine Cornell and Walter Hampden.

TO GIVE a brighter tone to the survey, it may be pointed out that not all the dependables failed. Noel Coward, for example, contributed the biggest success of his career to the season in "Blithe Spirit." The same may be said for Cole Porter, whose score adorns the long run musical hit, "Let's Face It." Rodgers and Hart have achieved one of their customary successes in "By Jupiter." And Shakespeare had not such a bad year either, what with Maurice Evans and Judith Anderson finding a strong play in "Macbeth."

It may be said, all on the cheerful side, that the year introduced a number of exciting newcomers to New York audiences. Patricia Peardon, of "Junior Miss"; Leonora Corbett of "Blithe Spirit"; Mary Anderson of "Guest in the House"; Judith Evelyn of "Angel Street," and Hazel Scott of "Priorities" would be valuable acquisitions even in the brighest season.

But this deficit must be noted. No author of glittering promise crossed the horizon into view during the year.

A Farmer's Diary

A Farm Boy

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

ONE HOT DAY I saw a boy of less than ten hoeing long rows of cucumbers. He worked as though he meant it. All alone, he seemed intent on getting those cucumbers clean.

"Why are you working so hard?" I wondered.

The boy looked out from under his wide straw hat, startled. "Why this is my own patch," he said. "Dad gave me this quarter of an acre if I do the work myself. Of course he plowed and fitted it, but I'm going to grow and harvest the crop. I'm selling to a cannery. Had some last year and made $25. This year pickles are up, and I'd oughta make more."

"Who cultivates them?"

"Oh, I hitch old Kate to the weeder, and put my brother Sam, —he's six—on her back to guide her. The handles are a little high for me, but Sam makes the mare go slow."

"There's something working on the leaves," I told him.

"Yes—I noticed that, too. Tomorrow morning before the dew is off I'll powder 'em with some stuff we have in the dust gun. It's the kind of stuff that won't hurt anyone, but kills insects. Mom put it on her roses, and kept 'em fine. Dad bought it at the Equity in a five-pound bag.

"I planted 20 apple trees of my own," he went on. "I picked 'em out of the catalog, and all. Then I've got two pigs—Sam and I have —that were runts, but we fed 'em on a bottle and they're coming fast. We'll pay Dad for the feed we use to fatten 'em, and the profits'll be ours. I like to watch 'em eat. They're not so particular,—just so it's food."

"And what will you and Sam do with all your money?"

"Mom says a savings account would be good, and she'll give us fifty cents more for every dollar of our own we save," he said.

"What do you and Sam do to have fun?" I asked.

"We go fishing—and if it's hot we take off all our clothes and try to swim. There's a place where the water's deeper. We have fun ducking and splashing. I can float pretty well. Sometimes we see a big crane. I saw it eat a frog...just speared the frog with its long sharp bill and ate it whole. 'Course I guess he was washed clean, from being in the water.

"I help milk, too. I milk one cow and Mom three. Tomorrow when Dad makes hay he's goin' to let me drive the tractor while he loads. I plowed two rounds this spring, in the corn field. Dad said I did fine, except at the corners."

350 FINISHING DAILY VACATION BIBLE COURSES

Graduation Exercises Being Held at Various Churches During Week.

More than 350 Mansfield boys and girls are attending final sessions of the five Community Vacation Bible schools today and will hold graduation exercises this week-end.

Diplomas will be presented to the pupils by the superintendents of the various schools and the children take part in "Visitors Night" programs before audiences of relatives and friends.

Handicraft exhibits of articles made in the school classes will be on display. The exhibits will include soap carving, woodworking and clay modeling projects, scrapbooks, scrolls and relief maps.

The children of the Park Avenue Baptist and St. John's Evangelical schools will hold their graduation exercises at 7:30 p. m., today. The First United Brethren vacation school held its exercises this morning.

The Union Gospel chapel school pupils will receive their diplomas at 7:30 p. m., tomorrow with exercises at the Salvation Army being held Sunday at 7:30 p. m.

The five children's vacation schools, sponsored by the Sunday School Superintendents association, opened June 15. Classes have been held from 9 to 11:30 a. m., five days a week, Monday through Friday.

In addition to the association-sponsored schools a number of Mansfield churches have put on their own vacation church schools. They include the South Main Street Evangelical, First Brethren, St. Paul's Lutheran and Grace Gospel tabernacle.

WIFE, CHILDREN SCUTTLE BUDGET

PHILADELPHIA—(U.P.)—A borrower complained that a Farm Security Administration supervisor had erred in making out a budget for him.

'It doesn't allow enough for food," he declared. "Long about two months ago food supplies got skimpier and skimpier. Until then I was eating all right."

Investigation showed that the borrower, "long about two months ago" married a widow with five children.

Medal of Honor

Nation's highest war decoration, the Congressional Medal of Honor, has gone to Capt. Albert H. Rooks, above, commander of the U. S. Cruiser Houston, which was lost following the naval battle in the Java sea in late February. In the absence of Rooks, listed on the service records as missing in action, the medal was presented to his son, Harold Rooks, a student at Harvard university.

WILL BUILD 50 ANTI-SUB CRAFT

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—Construction of all-steel anti-submarine patrol ships will begin in early summer at a shipyard now being erected by the Pullman-Standard car manufacturing company.

Streamlined production methods which call for fabrication of large sections of the ships in the company's car works with final assembly on the ways will make possible construction of a ship a week, according to Commander W. R. Dowd, supervisor of shipbuilding for the Chicago vicinity.

Pullman's contract with the navy calls for construction of 50 of the Diesel-powered fighting ships. The navy advanced $4,300,000 for the new plant.

DAYLIGHT SWIMMING RULES

PORTLAND, Ore.—(U.P.)—An old Portland city ordinance, still on the books, reads: "It is unlawful to swim during daylight without wearing a suitable dress, which shall cover the body from the neck to the knees."

REDDY KILOWATT SAYS:

"YOU'RE RIGHT, DOC, A COOL, ELECTRIC KITCHEN IS BEST FOR MOTHER AND VITAMIZED COOKING IS BEST FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY"

With our nation at war, America must conserve food . . . materials . . . resources . . . power. The following suggestions will help you save as well as to give you the maximum efficiency from the Electric Range or Roaster you enjoy so much.

1. Use as little water as possible when cooking—so that the water will boil quickly.
2. Place food in the water after it comes to a boil.
3. Continue the unit at high heat, until the water again boils, after food is added.
4. Reduce the heat, after the water again boils. Only a rolling boil is necessary.
5. Use covered pans—so that water reaches the boiling point faster—food cooks faster.
6. Use utensils that exactly fit or cover the electrical unit, preferably flat-bottomed utensils.
7. Cook food only until it is done. Avoid overcooking.
8. Turn off the heat five to ten minutes before the food will be cooked—cooking will continue on stored heat.
9. Be sure all units and switches are in proper working order—so that you get maximum efficiency from the electricity you use.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

New autographed copies of two medal-winning books have just been received by the children's department of the Mansfield Public library. While both titles have been a part of the library collection since their publication last year the new copies will be of interest to young subscribers.

MATCHLOCK GUN, by Walter Edmonds. Edward Van Alstyne's family owned an old matchlock gun. It was given to Edward along with the protection of his family when his father went to war in the French and Indian conflict. Edward was too young to carry the big Spanish gun but his mother helped him to save the family when Indians came.

MAKE WAY FOR DUCKLINGS, by Robers McCloskey. Mr. and Mrs. Mallard choose an island in the Charles river as a suitable place to have their nest. When the eight ducklings hatched Mrs. Mallard trained them for a week and then took them, with police protection by Michael, to the public garden where Mr. Mallard was waiting.

Russians Abandon Kupyansk After Enemy Hurls Tanks and Planes at City.

ualties the Soviet army newspaper Red Star said were 5 to 1.

The Soviet communique last midnight, in announcing that the Russians had evacuated Kupyansk, disclosed for the first time the location of a battlefield in the present Ukrainian fighting. It is 45 miles above the Izyum area, where fierce battles raged in May.

It was evacuated, the communique said, only after the most stubborn defense.

Red Star, in a dispatch seemingly antedating the withdrawal from Kupyansk, reported that German Field Marshal Fedor Von Bock had concentrated "masses of infantry and artillery, as well as the 14th and 16th tank divisions" on the Kharkov front in an effort to crash through Russian defenses "at lightning speed," pour into the break through and sever communications.

Hurling tank column after tank column into battle, the Germans pressed on regardless of losses and thus succeeded in making slight advances on several sectors, Red Star reported.

(Reports reaching London from Stockholm, said that a Soviet landing party two regiments strong near Yalta, in the southern Crimea, had forced the Germans to rush reinforcements from Simferopol, 35 miles to the north, and Feodosiya, 70 miles to the east.

(Russian marines, operating north of Yalta through the foothills, were reported menacing German communication lines. They were landed in the face of heavy German shore fire and a well-defended convoy that sailed from Caucasian ports, the Stockholm reports said

(German reports to a Stockholm newspaper also said that the Nazis had captured Tikhvin, 110 mile seast of Leningrad, and Kholm, 260 miles northwest of Moscow.)

Nazis Claim Capture of Sevastopol Areas

BERLIN —(INS)— (By Official German Wireless) — Several strongly fortified hillside positions in the eastern part of the fortress area of Sevastopol were taken yesterday by German and Rumanian troops after hard fighting, the German high command claimed today.

Southeast of Kharkov, a pincers movement supported by planes "caused encirclement and annihilation of Russian forces," it was continued.

In this action, 21,827 Soviet prisoners were taken and more than 100 tanks, 250 guns and large quantities of infantry equipment, including motorcycles were seized, it was asserted.

Surprise Attack Blasts Axis Ships

MOSCOW —(U.P.)— A surprise attack by more than 100 Russian Stormovik assault planes and dive bombers sank several Axis transports, blasted supply dumps and set big fuel tanks ablaze at an unnamed Finnish port Tuesday night, official dispatches disclosed today.

The attack was made by planes of the Soviet Baltic fleet (The Finnish port attacked was not named but might have been the port of Helsinki.)

Moscow Says Polish Officers Executed

LONDON—(INS)—Reuters (British) news agency today quoted Moscow radio reports from Stockholm stating that three days after the fatal wounding of Deputy Gestapo Chief Heinrich Heydrich in Prague hundreds of former reserve officers of the Polish army were arrested and sent to concentration camps and later shot.

In a number of towns, it was said, several hundred Polish officers were sent to prison and then executed.

In Silesia, according to the report, 1,200 Polish officers were imprisoned and warned that if anything untoward happened in Poland they would be shot.

TRAIN CRASHES THROUGH BRIDGE

Two Killed and 20 Injured In Wreck at Border of Arizona.

(By International News Service)

LOS ANGELES—Two persons were killed and 20 others were reported injured today when a four-car Santa Fe passenger train crashed through a burned bridge on the California-Arizona border.

The dead: E. J. Murray of Needles, engineer, D. L. Bentz, also of Needles, fireman.

Critically injured and not expected to live was the train's express messenger identified only as "Neel" of Phoenix, Ariz.

A government employe at Parker, Ariz., identified only as "Mathewson," suffered a broken hip.

A number of passengers were reported badly bruised and shaken up in the accident, but their injuries were not believed serious.

The wreck occurred at the Calzona bridge, a 42-foot long structure which spans a shallow gulch nine miles from Parker and the Colorado river. Officials said the bridge was about five feet high.

Striking the burned bridge at a 45-mile-an-hour speed, the engine and baggage car crashed into the gulley and overturned. The crew in the engine were crushed and Engineer Murray was killed instantly.

The chair car hurtled into the gulch but remained upright. Both sleepers remained on the tracks.

EYE-WITNESS REPORTS TOKYO PANICKED BY AMERICAN RAID

(By Associated Press)

ANKARA, Turkey — An eyewitness to the United States air attack on Tokyo last April 18, who was in a Tokyo street when the raid occurred, said today the Japanese were thrown into panic and depressed by the feeble defense.

The story was told by a national of a neutral country who has just arrived here.

"The daylight raid," he said, "was a complete surprise and shook the people's confidence as the government had boasted that American planes would never be seen over the capital.

"Tokyo's close-packed, highly-inflammable buildings were spared as the planes went on to bomb targets between the capital and Yokohama and other important industrial centers."

He said foreigners were not permitted outside of Tokyo to inspect the damage which, he said, apparently was heavy.

"I was on the street when the bombers came over," he related. "Sirens sounded and red warning flags and balloons went up.

"Many persons showed panic, rushing for cover.

"I heard no anti-aircraft guns. Japanese pursuit planes were outdistanced.

"Some Japanese commented on the superiority of the American aircraft. Japanese newspapermen, questioned why the Japanese could not locate where the planes came from and intercept them, replied that they flew too fast and too high.

"The people insisted that Japan was going to win the war, but I got the impression that they were very much afraid of the United States. The press spoke of a long war and some people talked of it lasting ten years."

WAIT DECISION

Ohio Fair Officials Decide on Farm Shows Monday.

Ohio fair officials are expected to decide the fate of the 1942 Richland county fair and others in the state at a meeting next Monday afternoon in Columbus.

Following a second plea by Joseph B. Eastman, director of defense production, for the suspension of all fairs during the war, Richland county fair board officials today were invited to attend Monday's meeting of the Ohio Fair Managers association.

R. D. Hale, secretary of the Richland county board, said he and possibly other members of the board would attend the meeting. The group will hear a report of a recent conference of fair officials with Eastman in Washington. Hale said there would be no final decision on the 1942 fair in Mansfield until next week. The fair has been scheduled for Aug. 25-28.

PRODUCES 4,000 PLANES IN MAY the May figures, warned against over-confidence. He said:

"While these figures give you some idea of our production accomplishments, this is no time for the American people to get over-confident. We can't rest on our oars. We need more and more, and we will make more and more.

"And we must also remember that there are plenty of serious production problems ahead—particularly some serious shortages in raw materials, which are receiving the closest consideration of the government and industry."

The distribution of the production figures coincided with continuing Anglo-American war strategy conferences—conferences in which the White House said Russian officials and experts had been playing a significant part.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said the Russians had figured in the parleys from the beginning and still did.

The Russian ambassador, Maxim Litvinoff, President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Britain, and Secretary of State Hull have held "extended and most important conferences," Early said.

"The meeting with Ambassador Litvinoff," he added, "was another of the series of conferences in which over-all and detailed surveys are being made. The conferences with military, naval and air officers meaning those of the United States, Great Britain and Russia, are taking place simultaneously."

The most recent of these conferences, Early said, was held yesterday.

This was the first time that the extent of Russian participation in the momentous parleys here had been known.

The president's report on production follows:

"We are well on our way towards achieving the rate of production which will bring us to our goals.

"In May, we produced nearly 4,000 planes and over 1,500 tanks. We also produced nearly 2,000 artillery and anti-tank guns. This is exclusive of anti-aircraft guns and guns to be mounted in tanks.

"And here is a figure which the Axis will not be very happy to hear — in that one month alone we produced over 50,000 machine guns of all types—including infantry, aircraft and anti-aircraft. That does not include sub-machine guns. If we add those in, the total is well over 100,000. All these figures are only for one single month.

"While these figures give you some idea of our production accomplishments, this is no time for the American people to get overconfident. We can't rest on our oars. We need more and more, and we will make more and more.

"And we must also remember that there are plenty of serious production problems ahead—particularly serious shortages in raw materials, which are receiving the closest consideration of the government and industry."

THEFTS CATCH UP WITH YOUTH

HAMBURG, Ark.—(U.P.)—William Peoples, 17-year-old Negro was convicted of stealing a bale of burlap bags from L. T. Barnes, selling them to A. E. Denton, stealing them from Denton and then selling them to George Pugh.

He didn't stop there, but stole them from Pugh and resold them to Denton, the original buyer in the chain of thefts. Denton recognized markings on the bags and notified officers.

Willie was given a year and a day on the county farm to figure out where he slipped up.

Fort Kearney, Neb., on the Platte river, was built in 1848 for protection of the Oregon Trail.

BOOK TELLS OF U. S. ADVENTURE OF FRENCHMAN

'Salsette Discovers America,' By Galantiere, on New List at Public Library.

A penetrating commentary on American life and manners is contained in "Salsette Discovers America," by Jules Romains, a new title at Mansfield Public Library.

Translated from the French by Lewis Galantiere the story relates the adventures of a Frenchman who wanders around New York and the countryside after being forced to flee from his homeland.

I'VE COME A LONG WAY by Helena Kuo is an absorbing account of the adventures of a young Chinese woman from childhood to the present day—of her traditional upbringing, her flight to Europe from wartime China, her work in journalism in England, her visit to the Continent, and, finally, her difficult escape to the United States, where she is now lecturing.

BROTHERS OF DOOM by Hoffman Birney is the story of the Pizarros of Peru. "There were four, and in all history no four brothers have known lives more full, Hernando, Francisco Juan and Jonzalo Pizano." Thus Mr. Birney begins his lusty, colorful narrative of the conquest of Peru. Setting his stage with a summary of conditions in Spain after the return of Columbus, he takes up their careers—and it is a strange, gaudy bloody existence which comes to life.

PASSPORT TO ADVENTURE by Lewis N. Cotlow a business man who has earned enough by six months work to enable him to travel during the rest of the year, is a record of 14 trips which he made from 1919 to 1942. He has traveled the world over and tells of what he saw with rare humor and infectious enthusiasm for his hobby. A good adventure book—informative and exciting.

FLOODS OF SPRING by Henry Bellamann author of "King's Row" is the story of Peter Kettring, and his Pennsylvania Dutch wife who emigrate to Missouri after the close of the Civil war. Bellamann tells of Peter's long struggle, on his isolated farm, to find or make the world he had imagined—of how, in the process, he broke his family, and anyone else who interfered—until nearly all that he loved was destroyed or lost. Though Peter towers above all else this novel of a restless self-destroying soul presents a gallery of varied and rich portraits.

SONG OF BERNADETTE by Franz Werfel recounts the life of St. Bernadette of Lourdes. The conflict of the naive, yet strong-willed and confident Bernadette with the cynical rulers of her society is a compassionate and moving narrative. And into his story of the miracle and the young girl through whom it was manifested Werfel weaves an engrossing picture of emperor, bishops, priests, nuns, merchants and artisans—a fascinating and living pageant of the Second Empire in France.

MEN WITHOUT A COUNTRY by Charles Nordhoff and James Hall tells of five convicts who fight to be free so that they may serve their country even though in the penal colony in French Guiana they had suffered every torture, humiliation and indignity that their country could heap upon them. In June 1940 they were picked up at sea by a French ship homeward bound. What happened to the ship and what these men did—that is the story.

CHAPTER XVI

Kay, humming under her breath, arranged flowers on the luncheon tables in the Sweet shop. She was seeing a silver ribbon of water winding in and out among meadows, hiding behind the soft, dark plumes of willows and then emerge into glory under the moonlit sky.

The River road . . . and Gary. Scent of honeysuckle from the road banks. Long, sweet silences. Gary's thrilling voice raised in song. He liked rollicking airs. It was becoming a habit with them, the River road.

Mr. Lord stopped to say "Good morning Miss Kenyon. Those sure are pretty posies."

"I salvaged them from the garden,' Kay said. "Sturdy fellows they must have been, to survive complete neglect. They're not very choice, but they do make rather a nice old-fashioned nosegay."

That they do,' Mr. Lord said admiringly. "I was wondering . . . the luncheon and tea business has shown a material increase. But what about the candies? The Cinderella kisses showed what can be done with an idea when its properly pushed. You don't happen to have another inspiration hiding under that bright red cap of yours, do you?"

'No, not at the moment. Maybe, if you shook me very hard, or if I jumped up and down for five minutes, one might drop out."

"We'll use strenuous measures only as a last resort. Meanwhile you might be able to coax an idea into bud. We're having a special shipment of chocolates in a few days, chocolate creams, the kind they used to call 'drops.' I'd like to run them as a special."

'I hope they're the fat funny ones. Dad used to bring me a bag of them every Saturday night when I was a little girl. He'd empty them onto a sheet of white paper and line them up like they were soldiers, marching. Soldiers . . . marching . . ."

"Miss Kenyon," Mr. Lord said anxiously, "you aren't feeling well? Here, sit down. In this chair. Bessie, a glass of water, quick."

Kay said, in a rush of excitement, 'The idea! It's popped, Mr. Lord. It practically exploded before my eyes. It's too good to be true. Soldiers marching!"

* * *

Mr. Lord was puzzled.

"We were talking about chocolates," he said. "What on earth have chocolates to do with soldiers?"

"Everything. At least they will have when we start hatching our ideas. Ever hear of a play called 'The Chocolate Soldier?' But of course. Everyone has. It's a light opera. Everyone knows the music. Mr. Lord, we're going to sell chocolate soldiers, whole armies of them. We can have one big chocolate soldier made in our own candy kitchen . . . he's General Chocolate. He'll be in the window leading the parade, and behind him will be a regiment of funny fat soldiers, chocolate drops with white mint bubble heads and silvered toothpicks over their shoulders for guns. We'll even have a company of toy tanks manned by the little brown men, and maybe we can find toy gun carriages for artillery and toy airplanes with chocolate soldier pilots. Can't you see it, Mr. Lord, General Chocolate's army marching through the Sweet shop window?"

Mr. Lord sat down, abruptly, in the chair he had drawn out for Kay.

"Well I'll be . . . I'll be ding busted," he managed. "You've hit it again! Yes sir, you've hit the jackpot square on the nose. Why the whole world's soldier conscious these days. We'll have every man, woman and child in Somerset talking about our window. They'll come to see it too and they'll drop in for a bag or box of chocolate soldiers to take home with them. This is going to be the biggest candy special we've ever put on! A hum-dinger!"

"I hope so," Kay said, more calmly. Mr. Lord's mounting enthusiasm dampened her own ardor. Suppose she had been overimaginative, over-optimistic. But she couldn't be. She would NOT be. 'The Chocolate Soldier" window in the Sweet shop was destined to be the talk of the town and it was going to hit a new high for candy sales, too.

That evening when Kay, her weariness swept away by the exhilaration of an idea, reached home she found Elsa moping on the front porch. Elsa was pale, the acrid fires of her emotions burning inward.

"What's become of Ronnie Farnsworth?" she asked Kay sat down in a rickety swing to cool off.

At once Kay was wary.

"Why do you ask?"

Elsa shrugged. "Idle curiosity. He's been conspicuous by his absence around here lately. I thought maybe you'd quarrelled."

"I hadn't noticed his absence. He was here last evening. Why should Ronnie and I quarrel?"

"I wouldn't know. He used to drop in every evening, two or three times during the day. You practically couldn't move without stepping on Ronnie."

"Perhaps he's busy elsewhere. I know I am."

Elsa's eyes narrowed.

"You needn't get so personal just because you put a few measly dollars into the family kitty," she flared. "Any dim-wit with your nerve can earn that kind of money. Ronnie came here because of me until you wheedled him away. You know you did. You set out to get him deliberately."

"So you're back to that again." Kay refused to be baited. "I thought you'd learned your lesson—in the pool."

"It was your fault. I . . . I stumbled into the pool. I was in a blind rage. I'd quarreled with Ronnie . . . He had no right to break up our party because you weren't asked. If you don't want him why not leave him alone! He'll come back to me if you'll give him a chance. Isn't one man enough for you? Must you have two? Must you get your claws in every man you see?"

Kay found no answering anger with which to strike back. She wasn't even irritated; she was just plain contemptuous.

"What two men? I? And to think I never even knew. It must be my fatal beauty."

"Don't play the hoity-toity with me," Elsa raved on. "I know you. Tally Holmes knows you too. She's furious. She's clever too, as clever as you think you are. She'll find a way to even the score."

The threat awakened Kay to a quick interest. "What score?" she asked, searchingly.

"Dear innocent Kay," Elsa mocked. "Save the act. There are no men around to impress. You wouldn't by any chance know a person by the name of Gary Fowler? You wouldn't know that he was giving Tally a rush, that he dropped her with a dull sickening thud after you'd managed to pick him up?"

Now, for the first time since Elsa's attack, Kay felt a rising tide of indignation. She must hold it to contempt. Contempt was a keener weapon.

"No!", she exclaimed, impishly. "Imagine that. I must get around more. I seem to be missing everything. Tally Holmes . . . the news in a nutshell. All the news that isn't fit to print. Then here's an item you can take to Tally. I don't believe Gary Fowler gave her a 'rush,' so he couldn't possibly have let her down. And here's an item strictly your own: Ronnie Farnsworth and I have been playmates ever since we were old enough to play. I have no intention of cutting off our friendship for you or for the sake of family peace. You'll find out, my dear cousin that whatever else you think I am, I'm no coward."

Kay rose, without flurry and went into the house.

She thought, "It's beginning all over again—the spitefulness, the suspicion, the greed and selfishness. I must work. I want to work. No one who works should come home to strife, to ugly faces and ugly hearts. I'll have to make the change after all, to take mother with me. But how, and when?"

DOMESTIC PETS GET PROTECTION

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—(U.P.)—Dogs and other domestic animals are to be given protection during blackouts and raids in Los Angeles county.

The American Red Star, an organization interested in animal welfare, has undertaken to see that dogs and other animals are removed from public highways during danger periods and taken to safety centers.

A survey of dog hospitals has been made and co-operation secured from poundmasters and various humane societies.

Here's a sensible way TO GET OUT OF DEBT

You may wonder how you can get out of debt now, when you haven't been able to before. The answer lies in getting a cash loan from Personal. With this money you'll be able to pay off your debts at once. Then you repay Personal in monthly amounts you can afford. This doesn't put you deeper into debt. It simply adjusts to a cash basis the debts you already have.

Personal makes loans on signature, furniture, or auto, to men and women, single or married, employed on either a new job or an old one. Sensible monthly payments.

$10.05 a month repays a $100 loan in 12 months.

We don't believe that folks should borrow unless a loan is the best solution to their problem. If it is, and you need $10 to $250 or more, come in or phone.

Russians Blame Japs For Ship Sinking

THE WAR TODAY

(Wide World War Analyst)

The fate of Egypt, and the broader interlocking issue of control of the all-important Middle East, is being written by now in the hot sands of the desert before the British coastal stronghold of Matruh which guards the approach to the mighty naval base of Alexandria and the Suez canal.

Nazi Marshal Rommel, racing eastward against time in an effort to trap the defeated British eighth army before it has a chance to reorganize, contacted the enemy covering forces 30 miles west of Matruh this morning, presaging a quick joining of the main battle.

We should know soon whether General Ritchie has had sufficient time to realign his weary forces after their retreat and to move into his defensive line the reinforcements which reportedly are arriving.

It is a momentous hour. British Premier Churchill is quoted as having said yesterday in Washington that Britain would hold and that there was no danger of losing Egypt and Suez. One takes the liberty of assuming that the prime minister didn't mean literally that the danger didn't exist, but that he expected it to be overcome.

Certainly Ritchie's position at the fortified and well-serviced base of Matruh is far better than it would have been had he tried to make a stand at the Egyptian border. Rommel, on the other hand, suffers the disadvantage of greatly extended and highly vulnerable communications.

Rommel has dared greatly in his tactics. The major portion of his army undoubtedly was fagged out from long and steady fighting in Libya. Yet, in order to deprive his enemy of time for recovery, he took after Ritchie and his eighth army at full speed.

Exhibiting one of his outstanding characteristics, Rommel has chosen the short cut to contact the foe. That route lay along or in vicinity of the military highway which skirts the Mediterranean, with the endless sands of the desert on the south. In taking this line, Rommel exposed himself to heavy Anglo-American air attacks and to possible shelling by British warships.

Much depends on those long communications of Rommel's. Some way he must keep them open as he goes into this crucial battle. Here is where the opposing air forces presumably will enter the picture in a big way, and the outcome of this battle is likely to turn on control of the air.

While the battle for Egypt approaches a climax, Hitler's great correlated offensive in the Kharkov sector continues to increase in intensity. A particularly fierce fight has developed 60 miles southeast of Kharkov where the Germans forced the Reds back and captured the railway junction of Kupyansk. The object of the Nazis is to gain control of communications in the important Donets basin, which would be a heavy blow to the Russians.

RIDE-TO-WORK CRISIS LOOMS FOR WORKERS

Roads Bureau Declares Auto Group Riding Has Become Absolutely Necessary.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—A nationwide worker-transportation crisis, with potentially serious effects on the war production effort, was predicted by the public road administration today as a result of the forced retirement of passenger automobiles.

After a study of the problem in a sample locality, the bureau said it now was "absolutely necessary" that universal group riding be instituted as a means of extending the usefulness of available cars and tires.

The agency suggested also that working hours be staggered on community-wide bases to increase the efficacy of mass transportation.

Anticipating transportation difficulties, the office of price administration, the office of petroleum coordination and the office of defense transportation already have urged the organization of car pools. Mayors of more than 300 cities have set up war transportation committees to organize group-riding and staggered-hour programs.

OPA has interposed an element of compulsion in the east by announcing that under the new gasoline rationing program, a car owner cannot get a supplementary ration card unless he can show he is a member of a car pool with at least three other persons or that it is impossible for him to join such a pool.

The effective date of coupon gas rationing was postponed for the Atlantic seaboard area from July 15 to July 22, to allow more time for the organization of such pools, with persons grouping together to rotate the use of their automobiles in traveling to and from work.

A committee of the petroleum industry war council has reported that the number of passenger cars in use, now about 27,000,000, would drop to 23,7000,000 by the end of this year, 9,000,000 in 1943, to 1,200,000 by 1944. It added there would be no passenger cars left on the road in 1945 should the war last that long without new sources of rubber.

The urgency of the situation gave rise to the scrap rubber collection drive now in full swing.

Older Mansfielders who pass the Huff Realty company window on West Fourth street are getting a chuckle out of a picture of Mansfield's first automobile "belling" which is displayed there with other old photographs. The "belling" was staged in 1903 for Henry Effman and his bride, the former Miss Emma Hautzenroeder. Four or five of the city's first automobiles were decorated with crepe paper and lined up for a parade through the downtown section. E. B. Kallmerten and William Bissman are shown prominently among the passengers.

There will be no rural delivery.

SCORN TOKYO CRY OF U. S. PROVOCATION

Soviet Radio Reports Nippon U-Boats Surfaced After Merchantman Sank.

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW — Soviet Russia pinned responsibility today for the sinking of the Soviet merchantman Angarstroi on a Japanese submarine, puncturing Tokyo's insistence that the act was a provocation by the United States.

Since the 4,761-ton merchantman was torpedoed May 1 only 32 miles off the Japanese coast, Japan has blamed a United States submarine, contending that the United States evidently hoped to fan the ancient enmity between Russia and Japan.

"This version does not coincide with the facts," declared the Soviet radio.

It said survivors reported two Japanese submarines surfaced immediately after the vessel went down and stayed with its crewmen until another Soviet ship landed them at Dairen, in Japanese-leased territory in Manchuria.

"It appears that the Angarstroi was sunk by a Japanese submarine," the Russian announcer said after relating the circumstances, including the fact that the ship previously had been halted by Japanese warships and escorted to a Japanese port for inspection.

The Angarstroi was homeward-bound when she was torpedoed, following a course prescribed by the Japanese.

Until now Moscow had been silent, like the United States, on Japan's assertions which began soon after the sinking with the charge that it was an American effort "to create friction between the Soviet Union and Japan." The most recent repetition was last Monday when Domei broadcast the comment of Japanese foreign office authorities that:

"The torpedoing . . . by a United States submarine . . . was obviously timed for provoking trouble. . . ."

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

New York Is Vacation Town.

(A Columnist's Come-on to Those Having Two Weeks With Pay.)

Summer has come to our town, and to our mail-boxes those fascinating little circulars in three colors from the resort centers. Let's see what this one says: "Spend your vacation with us. Golf, swimming, solarium, filtered pool, fishing, excellent cuisine, dancing and entertainment."

Fine, but who're they kidding? Who're they trying to reach? Surely not us—not the solid citizens of Broadway.

Kilgallen

Don't they know that New York is the vacation town? Not Pocono-in-the-Pines, not Muddlehead Mountain inn, not the Bar Fly ranch — but the fascinating, glamorous, quaint, romantic Isle of Manhattan.

We could write circulars, too.

Golf, is it? Our public links are on a par with the best. You can lose a ball in a water hazard, or you can swear your way out of a sandtrap on any of our courses just as well as on those at Shawnee or Skytop.

There are just as many people ahead of you whom you'd like to play through, and there's the same impatient sportsman behind you who would like to play through your foursome. . . . If you're not yet playing "in the 80's," brush up on your swing with an expert instructor at Abercombie and Fitch or Spauldings.

TENNIS? Want to see Kate Hepburn make "love"? Or Bill Tilden? Like to see Boris Karloff make a menacing swing with a racquet? Then try our New York courts. Stars galore at the Sutton courts, or bus up to those along Riverside Drive and see the collegiate world's greatest in action. This town is a tennis heaven.

EXCELLENT CUISINE — Now you're cookin' with gas, brother circular-writer, this is our island's department. Ever have cold roast beef off the bone at Toots Shor's, wild boar ham and Greek figs at the Barberry room, chef's salad at the Promenade cafe with a Victory garden blooming all around you, and great Prometheus as a scarecrow? Every try pot cheese with sour cream and chives at Lindy's, sirloin steak in Spooner's Corner at the Stork?

Our catalogue won't even mention chicken hash at 21 and Nassi Goring at the Holland House Taverne. But it's funny how city air-conditioning can whip up such an appetite you'd swear you'd been breathing deep of fresh country ozone.

SWIMMING is this island's dish of tea. You can backstroke or crawl through the rippling waters of the pools at the Shelton and the Park Central, and afterward in the lobby find postcards to send your friends, inscribed with the usual summer messages. The only difference between our pools and those of the resort ads is that in ours you may swim next to Buster Crabbe (if you're as fast as Johnny Weissmuller), or Eleanor Holm or Gloria Callen. Is that undesirable?

HUNTING is never out of season in our village. Go to 42d st. or Sixth ave., or Broadway in the 50's, and get a gun, and for a quarter you can blaze away at anything your imagination dreams up, so long as you don't shoot in an arc. Where, did I say? At the shooting galleries, kids.

RENTS FIXED

U. S. Takes Control in Five Congested Areas of State.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Federal control over rents paid by roomers, boarders and hotel-dwellers will become effective July 1 in five Ohio areas — Akron, Cleveland, Canton, Ravenna and Youngstown-Warren.

Landlords of hotel and rooming houses must register by midnight Aug. 15 all rooms being rented or offered for rent. Registration dates will be set locally.

Maximum rents must be postponed in all rooms offered for rent.

The districts are among 20 congested areas in the nation to which the new OPA orders apply. Regulation of other rents took effect June 1 in these areas.

PLANS PROBE OF OHIO EPIDEMIC

State Health Director Will Study Outbreak at Mt. Vernon.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Dr. R. H. Markwith, state health director, said he probably would make a personal investigation at Mt. Vernon today of an outbreak illness which affected several hundred persons. It was diagnosed tentatively as an infectious diarrhea.

There were no serious cases of the illness, which was reported on the wane. Dr. Markwith said the state laboratory had been unable to locate the cause of the outbreak.

PROPOSES BOND EXTENSION PLAN

Empire Seeks Approval of Finance Program Drawn In View of War Business.

The Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company today announced to bondholders a proposal for extension of five years in time of payment on the company's first mortgage six per cent convertible bonds.

The company's latest balance sheet, dated Dec. 31, 1941, shows that of the $1,500,000 in these first mortgage bonds authorized, the amount in the hands of the public was $917,075.

The bonds mature on Oct. 1, 1943. The company's proposal would extend time of payment to Oct. 1, 1948. The announcement of the proposed extension, sent to bondholders by J. M. Hill, president, and O. C. Henkel, treasurer, stated.

"The approval of this plan will relieve the immediate problem of working capital and will make it possible to take full advantage of the increased business available during this period, rather than to deplete the assets and resources of the company."

The letter traced the growth of the company and listed capital improvements to the plant property. In the period of 1934 to 1941 inclusive, these totalled $1,902,826, the report stated.

CENTRAL OHIO TRAFFIC CLUB HOLDS OUTING AT WESTBROOK

Drawing attendance from cities as far as New York and Chicago, the Central Ohio Traffic club held its 21st annual summer outing yesterday at Westbrook Country club with 125 guests present.

The event included golf matches throughout the afternoon, and ended with a dinner last evening. Railroads and motor freight companies operating through this area were represented, and guests included officials of traffic departments in companies throughout this area.

Earl Thompson, of Cleveland, traveling freight agent of the Southern Pacific, shot an 84 to repeat his 1941 performance and won the members' golf trophy. M. S. Rose of the Master Tire and Rubber company, Findlay, won the guests' trophy with an 81.

J. B. Sanford, general traffic manager of the Sherwin-Williams Paint company of Cleveland, was toastmaster at the dinner, and paid tribute in a brief address to the transportation system of the nation for their handling of greatly increased passenger and freight traffic during war time.

He was introduced by E. L. Morgan, jr., traffic manager of the Ohio Seamless Tube company, Shelby, who is president of the club. Robert Cruickshank, traffic representative of the CCC Highway company, Mansfield, was chairman of the outing.

Rev. David N. Roller gave the invocation at the dinner. Among the guests was Dan Chase, general superintendent of the Pennsylvania railroad, H. W. Von Willer and George A. Lamb, Erie railroad representatives, and W. J. O'Donnell, vice president of CCC Highway company, Cleveland. Others were present from Youngstown, Toledo, Tiffin, Detroit, Chicago, New York, Buffalo, Cincinnati and Columbus.

TOP EARNERS

Galion Steel Official's Pay $78,799 For 1941.

The salary of G. L. Steifel, president of Central Ohio Steel Products, Inc., at Galion, was $78,799 last year, more than double his earnings in 1940 and ranking him among the country's highest paid industrial officials, the Securities and Exchange Commission reported today.

The figure topped the salary of G. D. Brooks, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, who reported earnings of $77,940 last year.

Bing Crosby, movie and radio crooner, reported he received $300,000 last year from Paramount Pictures, Inc., and $100,640 for making records which made him the highest paid Hollywood star. His radio earnings have not been reported to the Securities and Exchange commission.

Comedian Bob Hope was paid $294,166, while Actor Fred McMurray received $299,333. Also in the select "first 10" group was L. B. Mayer, managing director of Loew's Inc., whose salary was $704,426. The commission's report included only employes of companies listed on the stock exchanges.

ILL 4 WEEKS

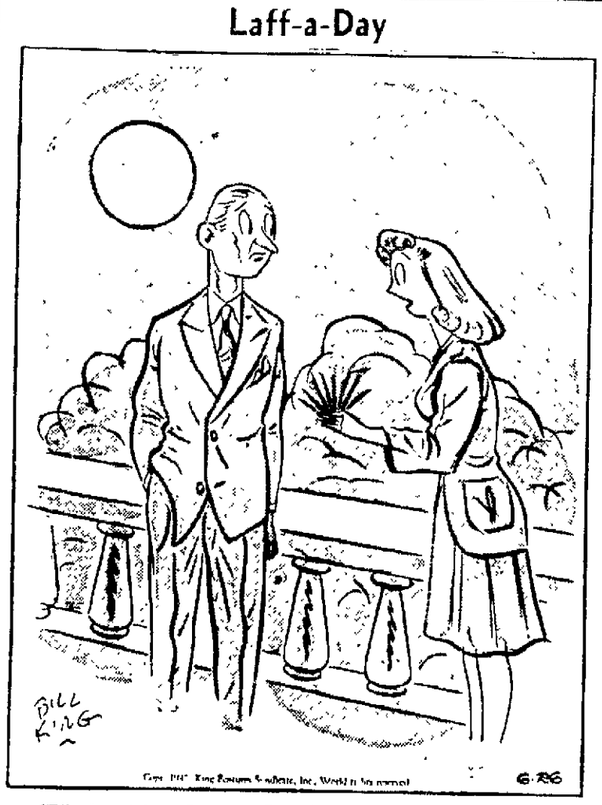
Mrs. Minnie Sheets, 68, Dies at Ashland.

ASHLAND — A life-long resident of Ashland county, Miss Minnie Margaret Sheets, 68, died here Thursday at the home of a niece, Mrs. J. L. Caton. She had been ill the past four weeks.

Surviving are 10 nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the Caton home. Rev. W. L. Desenberg will officiate. Burial will be in Imhoff cemetery, west of Ashland.

Laff-a-Day



"It's beautiful, Horace. I can't accept it as an engagement ring, but I'd like to keep it to remember you by!"

FILE BUDGETS

Only 4 of 41 Taxing Districts In County Submit Figures.

Only four of the 41 taxing districts in Richland county had filed their 1943 budget requests today with County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe.

First to submit their requests for operating funds were Cass, Franklin, Monroe, and Sandusky townships, the auditor said.

While the requests can be filed for approximately three more weeks, Wolfe said he hoped most of them would be submitted within the next few days so the budget commission can start work on them.

The requests will be checked against the probable funds that will be available for next year and then each of the districts will be notified of any reductions that will be necessary.

SAILOR, ILL 3 WEEKS, DIES

Glenn Lucas, 32, Was In Maryland Navy Hospital.

Glenn Lucas, 32, who enlisted in the navy last April, died yesterday afternoon at the Naval Medical Center hospital in Bethesda, Md., after an illness of three weeks.

Lucas came to Mansfield six years ago from Homer City, Pa. He was employed by the Humphryes Manufacturing company. While in Mansfield he made his home with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cleckner, Ashland road.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Lucas of Homer City, Pa. The body will be removed to Homer City for funeral and burial services.

NON-JEWS HELD

Arrests Reveal Sympathizers Wear Star of David in Paris.

VICHY—(AP)—In German-occupied Paris where Jews are required to wear the star of David it was announced today that "a certain number of non-Jews who are wearing the Jewish star or an imitation of that emblem, thereby showing their sympathy for Jews, have been sent to concentration camps."

This was the first public admission of such a sympathy movement.

URGE PROHIBITION

WOOSTER, O.—(INS)—A resolution calling on President Roosevelt to "declare a state of prohibition for the duration of the present war, for the good of the boys in camp and all citizens," was adopted at the closing session of the Presbyterian Synod of Ohio.

Hostile Submarine Sunk by Gunners On Red Freighter

SYDNEY — (INS) — Crew members of a Russian freighter said today that gunners aboard the vessel sank a hostile submarine which attacked their ship recently off the east coast of Australia.

Attacking at dusk, the sailors said, the submarine fired a shell which struck the bridge and wounded the ship's master. The sub was said to have submerged when the ship's guns returned the fire but surfaced an hour later to fire again on the ship. This time the third officer was wounded.

The undersea craft repeated this performance a third time when the ship's gunners raked it with shells and machine gun fire. The sudden manner in which the sub submerged for the fourth time convinced those aboard the freighter that it had been destroyed.

MOON COMPETES WITH BLACKOUT

Western Pennsylvania Reports Highly Successful Test.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—(INS)—Only the moon offered serious competition last night to western Pennsylvania's all-night dimout test—a test so successful that it prompted an official to remark that the results "were far superior to the eastern and central portions of the state."

A dozen persons were arrested for burning lights or failing to heed orders from air raid wardens.

Steel mills in the Pittsburgh area continued their vital war work, but in Johnstown, Bethlehem Steel blacked out its plant for 10 minutes without interfering with production. So did National Tube in McKeesport.

DATES To Remember

June 1-July 1 — Campaign for $22,000 funds for United Service Organization.

June 15 — Nation-wide scrap rubber salvage campaign opens, closes June 30.

June 27 and June 30—Boys 18 to 20 to register under selective service law.

July 1 — Motorists must have new automobile use tax stamp in their possession.

July 4 — Community Fourth of July celebration at Fairground.

MRS. KIENE TALKS ON SUMMER COOKING

Health for Victory Club Members Hear About Hot Weather Meal Planning; Witness Demonstration Thursday.

MRS. JULIA KIENE stressed the importance of serving hot foods to the family in the summertime and emphasized the increased requirements for energy-giving meals during hot weather months in presenting a timely and practical nutrition program to the members of the Mansfield Health for Victory club at their fifth monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the Westinghouse auditorium.

The 325 women on hand to hear the Westinghouse home economics manager discuss the important subject of "Summer Health" left the auditorium at the close of the meeting realizing more than ever their duty in protecting the morale and health of their families during these coming critical summer months. Mrs. Kiene laid before these women—the "Army In Aprons," as she described them—their full responsibility in keeping up the physical efficiency of their men folk in war production.

"The common practice of eating less food in the summertime, and most of it cold, is the worst thing we can do," pointed out Mrs. Kiene. "Just because your husband says, 'don't cook much—I'm not hungry' is no excuse." It requires additional energy for your husband to work hard all day, and then come home and work in the garden, mow the lawn, or play golf. Your children burn up more body fuel in the summertime, because instead of spending five hours a day in school, they are now running all over the neighborhood, active every minute. And the answer to this stepped up summertime pace is more food, because food is our only source of energy," she stated.

"So regardless of what they say about not having an appetite, you go right ahead and prepare attractive meals, always with a hot dish, and you'll be surprised how they'll change their minds about eating," Mrs. Kiene advised.

Explaining the need for hot foods in the summertime diet the speaker stated that cold dishes are harder to digest. Because the digestive tract is naturally more sluggish in hot weather the temperature of food is important. Taking an actual example from the new July Meal Planning Guide, Mrs. Kiene dramatically demonstrated the difference in one day's menus — breakfast, lunch, and dinner—with and without hot dishes. First she placed the three menus with no hot food on the mirrored table for the audience to see. Then she added the full complement of hot dishes suggested for the menus. The result was an attractive display that drew a round of applause from the audience.

All foods were classified by the nutrition authority into three general groups: energy and body heat foods, body upkeep, and body protection foods. The functions of each were elaborated by the speaker. Calories came in for consideration when Mrs. Kiene described them as simply units of energy measure. To the amusement of the audience she demonstrated 100 calory equivalents in various food qualities such as one teaspoon of butter, one slice of bread, five prunes, a miniature piece of pie, etc.

All attending yesterday's meeting were given the July Meal Planning Guide with suggested menus for each meal of the month. Mrs. Kiene also distributed a special canning bulletin in response to many requests for information on this vital subject.

Sorority Plans Newspaper Sale

Sigma Kappa Gamma sorority held a short business meeting last evening at the home of Miss Marge Zimmerman, Grace street. Reports were made on the sale of cards and on the sorority newspaper, "The Tattler." It was decided that the paper would be published the first Thursday of each month.

Results of the first match of the tennis tournament were also announced and names were drawn for the next set. A picnic for the girls and their mothers will be held July 23. After the business session, the girls left to play tennis at Liberty park.

The next regular business meeting will be July 9 at the home of Miss Doris Kiraly, Linden road, with Miss Zimmerman assisting.

Suits More Important Than Ever

By SUSAN BARDEN
(International Illustrated News Writer)

THIS YEAR suits are going to be more important than ever before in the fashion picture. Suits will do double duty this season. With tailored blouses they are perfect for the serious, active part of the day. But they can be transformed for informal events and that "dress-up" mood by frilly dickies or gayly printed blouses.

One of the first steps taken by fabric mauufacturers in their effort to meet the needs of the government and their civilian markets, was to standardize weaves. There's no time now for mills to experiment, so they have worked on successful standbys. Twills come in this category, and twills, sturdy and with "good hand," are featured in 1942's suits. Ribbings and herringbones give variety. Navy and black are preferred colors, with green and brown putting in an appearance for high-style's sake.

The three suits shown in the above photographs are excellent examples of the new materials and styles.

The three-piece suit (center) was designed by William Bloom and is made of a rough nubbed linen-type weave of spun rayon. It consists of a jacket without collar or lapels, a skirt and a blouse in a tropical print which carries out the suit color and texture. The ensemble can be had in penny brown, green, navy and raspberry.

The one-button, man-tailored suit (right) is made of raised twill woven from spun rayon and wool in a 60-40 mixture in a wool type construction. A milan cloche reminiscent of World War I, and a matching red calf bag which is big enough to carry knitting, war relief work and cosmetics, make up the accessories. The lapel pin is bright enamel and metal, and pays homage to the Americas.

Gabardine, a member of the twill family, is a favorite for suits. The one pictured left is well tailored, with a hip-length jacket and an easy skirt with a comfortable front kick pleat. It is ideal for the woman who is busy in war activities, as it is crease resistant, smartly cut and equally at home in or out of doors.

Plan Installation For Pocahontas

Pocahontas lodge met last evening with 25 members present. Mrs. Effie Stors conducted the business, at which time plans were made for the installation of officers on July 9. The birthday party dinner will also be held then.

Readings were given by Mrs. Julia Grandstaff and Mrs. Clara Weaver. Mrs. Anna Weaver was awarded the prize. It was announced that the Past Pocahontas would meet July 1 at the home of Mrs. Byron Hoffer, 137 West Dickson avenue. Mrs. Ethel Underwood will be hostess for the degree team's July meeting.

Surprise Shower Held for Whites

Twenty-six members and their families were present for the surprise miscellaneous shower held last evening by Mrs. J. L. Groves and Mrs. Stanley Terman for Mr. and Mrs. T. Arthur White.

Home movies were shown by Emmet Izer, sr., including pictures of Mr. and Mrs. White's wedding and dinner of June 6. The honorees received many lovely gifts. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Think First About Hasty Marriages

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"Marry in haste, repent at leisure," ran the old proverb, a bit of outdated wisdom completely rejected by the young people of today. They seem to think that hasty marriage is the only really snappy course of action. As for repenting, I'm sure they all consider that a stupid waste of time.

Streamlined marriages that move with much speed and little sound, marriages that are planned, made, unmade and perhaps forgotten in less time than it took the old-fashioned bride to decide on her wedding dress—these are the order of the moment, for the war has speeded up the tempo of the wedding march.

Speed has come to be an indispensable feature of romance. We of a more slowly moving generation may blink and gasp; we may even wail in protest but we have to face the fact itself.

Don't think, however, that I'm completely on the old-fashioned side of the fence. It's true that a great deal of sentimental dawdling and time-wasting went on in the name of propriety.

In those old days, an engagement sometimes lasted for half a lifetime. Girls, in particular, seem not to have known how to set a sufficient value on their time even when this time ran into decades. No sensible person wants to see love affairs slowed down to the point of paralysis

I realize that I'm still a bit of a fence-straddler on this question when a case like one received in this morning's mail is presented to me. Beryl is only 18. She thinks it's high time that she gets married. It's too dull at home for her. There are two boys who want to marry her. She is sure that Jack the Marine is the one she loves, while her parents prefer Donald, who is in Defense Work She writes:

"My mother and dad can be of great help to me—give me a perfect trousseau, a real wedding and even furnish a small apartment for us. But they refuse to admit that I have enough sense to choose my own husband. So their method is to ask me to put off my marriage for the duration and stay at home with them. This about kills me when I see all my friends getting married to boys in uniform. And there's nothing ahead for me but to stick around and wait for the war to end."

There was a good deal more to her letter but that's enough to show her state of mind. There are many helpful things a girl can do at the present time. She can join the Red Cross, and while this girl is too young to join the W.A.A.C., there are dozens of organizations in which she could be of use.

It's quite evident she thinks of marriage merely as a form of excitement — as something to be gone through with in a hurry, something relating to the excitement of war. If she thought of marriage as a lifetime arrangement, she wouldn't really mind the delay.

Bath Tubs Answer to Fatigue

By MME. QUI VIVE

Time is something that nobody has any more. Even the time killers haven't any. They've been dragged out of their soft cushions, have been put to work. Busy women are busier than ever, doing odd jobs for their Uncle Samuel besides carrying on their own activities.

That's all the more reason why we have to snatch a few moments of relaxation when we can get them. Even locomotives wear out, and these are the days when the central nervous system is taxed. You can't go full steam ahead all the time. We used to fly into beauty shops for a half-day session, but for many of us that is a foregone pleasure. We'll have to have our pick-up treatments at home, and a good place to have them is in the bath tub.

As a hygienic measure, as a relaxing agency for tired muscles and a work-weary mind, as a beautifier of the complexion, the daily bath with plenty of soap, warm water and a good old scouring brush rates 100 per cent. You can't beat it. Moist heat comforts the flesh.

Believe it or not, but a rousing tubbing rids you of fatigue bugs and body wastes.

Before stepping into the tub wash your face, dry thoroughly and cover the skin surface with cold cream or your favorite massage emollient. Anoint the neck first, sweep upward with flattened finger tips. Do a few quick circles around the eyes.

If there is steam in the bathroom, so much the better. Before using soap and brush, recline and relax. Close your eyes. If the water cools, turn on the hot water tap. Don't forget that the human hide is in a constant state of decay and renewal. Dead scales, combined with even the slightest film of perspiration, cause an unpleasant odor. You want to get rid of them. That can be accomplished only by prolonged soaking and brisk friction.

The skin is an organ of elimination; to function normally it must be kept scrupulously clean. The daily scouring is especially necessary if one is a victim of acne. By stimulating the epidermal coat all over the body, less work will be done by the sensitive glands of the facial area.

Have a warm rinsing, then a cold one. If you have a shower try the alternating hot and cold treatment. Good for making the blood streams scuttle around.

Friction with a coarse towel. Following along with a bath tonic. There are grand ones to be had, sweetly fragrant. They leave the surface of the skin as smooth as velvet.

Put on your nightie, give your hands, face and finger nails a quick oily friction.

The machine gun used by American troops in World War I was developed by John M. Browning, of Utah.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"I don't think so," my father said slowly, "although there's a possibility he has that in his mind. But there's no use speculating. What I want from you is a promise not to tell Katharine of any of this until I give you permission. If it becomes too big a secret for your conscience to keep, come to me and I'll see what can be done."

"I promise, of course, not to speak without your permission," I told him. "But," I added, I warn you that I shall pester you for permission to speak if Katharine suffers too much from anxiety. Remember, she will be with me in Lillian's apartment. Isn't that your plan?"

"Yes, but she isn't suffering any more anxiety than she has had for the last two years, is she?"

"Why, of course she is," I told him. "She knows of the inquiry concerning Jack's whereabouts which Marion, at the gangster's bidding, put to her through me, over the telephone. She has been half wild ever since."

Spencer Determined.

"I can't help it," my father said firmly. "She would be more wild if she knew the truth. So I am relying on your promise. But I'll promise, in turn, not to be too adamant to your pleadings, if it is possible to relent without endangering Jack.

"And now we must speak of something else," he went on. "I am not willing that you should suffer any nervousness over remaining here, now that you have found out about Mr. Milner's activities.

'Of course tonight will be all right, because Richard will be back. But if anything should happen to delay him, I shall take you back to Lillian's and leave you there; that is, after you have seen Mary."

"She ought to be here any minute now," I said. "But you are mistaken, I am not afraid to stay here alone, especially with that guard in the connecting apartment."

Mary Arrives.

"Nevertheless, you are going to Lillian's if Richard does not arrive," he said. Then we heard a light rapyping on the outer door, and Ronald's voice, "Oh, hello, Mary!"

"Hello, Ronald!" Mary's trainante voice came in reply. "Mighty glad to see you. Where's the auntie?"

"In the next room," Ronald replied, but my voice followed his as I opened the bedroom door.

"Right here, darling," I told her, rushing toward her. My father was close behind me as her young arms closed around me convulsively. I knew what heights and depths of emotion had been hers since she had left me in the afternoon; knew also that she would wish to talk to me alone, and I turned to my father with decision.

"If you don't mind," I said, "Mary and I have things to talk over immediately. Will—"

"I'll anticipate your request," my father said smiling. "Ronald, come on with me to my apartment. No auditors wanted here. I can see. But remember, Mary, I want to see you before you sleep."

Alone With Mary.

"You shall," Mary assured him. In another instant Mary and I were alone together, looking intently at each other while, as so often in the years from her childhood on, I saw her resilience and high spirits fuse her emotions into juanty triumph.

"Will you accept my best salute?" she queried, sweeping an imaginary plumed hat to the floor with an elaborately low obeisance, "also my assurance that everything's jake, thanks to the best and wisest and most Machiavellian aunt that ever aunted."

I laughed at her nonsense, but protested impatiently.

"Never mind the bouquets, as you would put it," I told her. "Tell me quickly what happened. First, did you get either of my notes in time?"

"Both of them," she answered, "and how! My blessed stepmother-in-law was waiting at the church or, rather, our apartment, with one of 'em, which she was careful to give me when Noel wasn't around. And my stepsister-in-law—isn't that the correct title for Olina?—was standing first on one foot and then the other at Stevie's side, engaging his attention, until she could get a chance to slip me the other one.

"And was I ever so glad I was forewarned? What a spreading of 'lasses you did put on Stevie's bread and butter!"

"How did he act—or react?" I asked.

Church Going Cut by Gas Rationing

By GARRY MYERS, Ph.D.

It takes more self-drive to do the things you think you ought to do than to do just the things you want to do. My observation is that in areas where many adults and children walked, or went by bus or trolley car to Sunday school or church, a little snow or rain would keep fewer home than in areas where all persons went in comfortable automobiles.

Almost surely the gas rationing and tire shortage will reduce Sunday school and church attendance.

Since people are creatures of habit, those accustomed to walk or go by public transportation to church or Sunday school will not consider it a hardship to continue doing so. Indeed, they might even find it a more satisfying experience now. Yet how can healthy persons used to the ease and luxury of automobiles afford to deny themselves the necessary effort to walk or go by public conveyances to church, if they consider going to church worth while? How can they afford to let their children escape so small an effort in a worthy enterprise? How can these parents afford to let their children see them be so easily diverted from a purpose they have held, up to now, to be so valuable?

Incidentally, walking to Sunday school or church would seem to afford most of us parents and our children a motive to improve our health through outdoor exercise.

Of course, many adults and whole families have been in the habit of traveling many miles by automobile to a Sunday school or church that is not accessible in any other way.

Go to Neighborhood Church.

The practical way out is to attend Sunday school or church right in your own neighborhood. In towns and cities almost no homes are beyond reasonable walking distance of a church. Almost any one can learn to worship in any church, however different its services from the kind he was used to. Always in his private self he can hold to his own convictions, pray his own prayers, carry on his own meditations. To be able to gain a spiritual uplift in a wholly unaccustomed church service is good proof of one's spiritual strength and growth. I have a notion that for children and adults, Sunday school or church attendance almost anywhere is better, as a rule, than no attendance, especially in these times. Attendance at public worship in one's immediate neighborhood should result in more friendliness there, in more tolerance, more democracy.

A copy of my "Prayer for Parents," may be had by writing me in care of this paper enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Q. When I talk on the telephone my two and a half year old baby cries or screams and pounds at me because I do not pay attention to her instead.

A. It might be well to provide her with a toy telephone and try to induce her to "telephone" when you do. This failing, and in most cases it will, set aside a morning, several mornings if necessary, when you will talk over the real telephone to an imaginary person. The moment the child disturbs your talking, lay down the receiver, turn her over your knee, and spank her. Then go on telephoning. Repeat this treatment until successful.

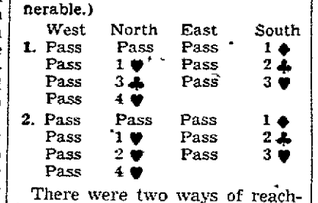
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

BIAS FAVORING MAJORS

It is unwise, in most cases, to favor one phase of activity as against another. There are a few prejudices, however, which are completely sound. To have a strong bias in favor of striving for a major suit contract instead of a minor is winning bridge, since it requires you one less trick to make game. It can be overdone, of course, but unless you possess such a bias, to some extent, you will lose ultimately by the lack of it.



(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

There were two ways of reaching a heart game in the duplicate where this hand was dealt. In every case the contract was made, with the loss of one trick in each suit except diamonds, following the lead of a spade.

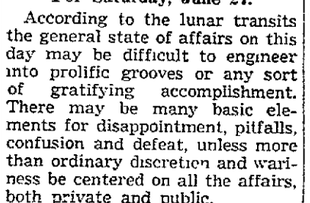
Perhaps the best bidding of the deal is that given at Table 1, where South showed three-card support for the major suit with his call of hearts after bidding clubs over North's first response.

Maybe North's preference for majors was a little too great at Table 2, when he made a minimum rebid because he didn't think he was quite strong enough for 3-Hearts. His hand had already become quite good after hearing South's club call, and he might have been pardoned if he had bid one higher

The really bad bidding was done at several tables, where South bid clubs on his second turn, North raised them and then South either bid 4-Clubs or jumped to 5-Clubs without ever showing neutral support for hearts. Game cannot be made in the minor, but is cold in the major.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

After North doubles and South leads the heart 9, how should East play this deal for 4-Hearts redoubled?

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, June 27.

According to the lunar transits the general state of affairs on this day may be difficult to engineer into prolific grooves or any sort of gratifying accomplishment. There may be many basic elements for disappointment, pitfalls, confusion and defeat, unless more than ordinary discretion and wariness be centered on all the affairs, both private and public.

Those whose birthday it is may need to summon all their discretion, vigilance and prudence in order to sidestep a multiplicity of dangers, defeats, loss, treacheries and chaotic conditions. This is especially so with all writings, communications and travel.

A child born on this day may have need of rigid training in prudence and principle, since it may be naturally inclined to settle its affairs by expediency rather than straightforward principles.

PLAN FAMILY PICNIC.

Plans were made for a family picnic to be held at North Lake park on July 29 when members of the Christomathean class of the First Lutheran church met last evening in the parish house. The business session was conducted by Miss Bertha Landis. Refreshments were served during the social hour by the hostesses, Mrs. W. L. McAninch, Mrs. H. Sullivan, Mrs. Harry Hursh and Miss Emma Daum. Contest prizes were awarded to the Misses Iona Main and Verda Barr. Regular meetings will be dispensed with until September.

LUCKY THIRTEEN CLASS.

The Lucky Thirteen class of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church met last evening at the home of Mrs. Anna Dupre, South Main street road. Mrs. Isabelle Balcolm was associate hostess. A two-course picnic luncheon was enjoyed. Centerpiece for the table was an arrangement of garden flowers. The Misses Frieda and Marie Boebel were guests. Prizes in games were won by Mrs. Lottie Bernat and Mrs. Alice Gilbert. The awards were war stamps. Gift-of-the-month was won by Mrs. Lillian Berry.

NEEDLECRAFT HOSTESS.

The Needlecraft club met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bert Velzy, Springmill street. Mrs. Roy Crider conducted the business session, during which time it was decided to hold a picnic July 9 at North Lake park. Winners of the contest prizes were Mrs. Charles Seeburger and Mrs. Howard Boyce. On September 10 the first fall meeting will be held by Mrs. Fred Arnold, Ward road.

JOLLY EIGHT MEMBERS.

Mrs. Martin Hoffman, Woodville road, entertained the members of Jolly Eight club yesterday afternoon. Guest was Miss Lenna Bucher. Prizes for the bingo and word contests were won by Mrs. Carl Eastman, Mrs. Christine Konves and Mrs. Carl Wander. Red, white and blue appointments were used. The next meeting will be July 23 at the home of Mrs. Wander, 442 Neuman street.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

Mansfield tennis champion Bob Spear has been in the army air corps since last January, and is just now getting into the air. At latest reports he had just eight hours flying time to his credit.

Which gives you some idea of the thorough training demanded by the air corps for the men who are to handle its fighting ships against the Japs and the Axis.

And explains why other athletes, like baseball catcher Joe Atton, who passed his exams for the air corps months and months ago, have to wait around so long for their call to service.

* * *

Many a good man and brave has had the "buck" when it came his turn for his first solo flight, and Spear, in a letter to his parents, frankly admits he had it.

"The instructor put the plane through a couple take-offs and landings, and then hopped out and said: "There it is, Bud, take it up and bring it down'," Bob writes.

"And right in that moment I thought of everything I'd ever done in my life, like a drowning guy.

"And all at once I found myself singing a song. I don't know why. But I was all right again, and took the plane up and brought it down several times without mishap," Spear related. Music hath charms to soothe, etc.—no doubt.

* * *

If we do not have twilight baseball at the Fairground the rest of the summer, you can blame it on certain members of the fair board.

At least that's what Red Hamman, manager of the Mansfield Travellers, tells me, and he goes on to explain:

"We had planned bringing teams in here regularly on Friday evenings, and some of the fair board members told us they were all for it, but to come to the next meeting.

"And there some of the others said: 'Sure, for $10 a night—we always got paid for the diamond before.'

"I told them that the other teams that paid them went broke doing it, and besides, the Ohio State league team kept the diamond in condition then, and had fences up, and bleachers for the fans to sit on, and now there are only the third base bleachers," continued Red.

"With that grandstand as far away as it is, and no bleachers in front of it, we couldn't charge very much to see even a good team. And with $10 for the diamond, it could cost from $25 to $50 to put on a game, and with a little rain we'd be stuck for the full load."

It's too bad. The Fairground diamond isn't fit to play ball on. But the Travellers are willing to risk life and limb in an effort to provide some wartime recreation for Mansfield baseball fans.

Cooper Captures Tenth Win

Probably Will Start For National League.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

THE success story of the year in baseball concerns Morton Cecil Cooper of the St. Louis Cardinals, who is most likely to be the National league's starting pitcher in the all-star game in New York July 6.

* * *

Cooper captured his 10th victory and sixth shutout yesterday 4-0 with a stunning two-hit performance against the Boston Braves in an army-navy relief game that raised more than $28,500 from 25,000 fans at Boston.

* * *

It was only the third victory in the last nine games for St. Louis and Cooper won all three with shutouts—stretching a skein of 32 consecutive scoreless innings.

Yesterday he retired the first 16 batters in order and gave up two hits.

The Brooklyn Dodgers bashed the Cincinnati Reds 4-0 in a twilight game by rallying for five successive hits after two were out in the third stanza.

Big Bill Lee pitched five-hit ball as the Chicago Cubs cuffed the Phils 7-1 to sweep their three-game series at Philadelphia.

In the American league the Chicago White Sox shut out the Washington Senators for the second straight game 2-0 in a spectacular hurling duel between Lee (Buck) Ross and Sid Hudson. The Washington right-hander allowed just five hits, one less than his teammates made off Ross.

* * *

Lefty Al Smith of the Cleveland Indians achieved his fourth straight triumph with a five-hit pitching job that stopped the Philadelphia Athletics 4-1.

Detroit downed the Boston Red Sox 7-3.

Tourney Boasts Record Entry

Mahoning Valley Sets National Golf Mark.

GIRARD—(AP)—The second annual $5,000 Mahoning Valley open had set a record before the first of the nation's top drawer golfers teed off today for the 72 holes of medal play.

When the entry list passed 170 last night Fred Corcoran, PGA tournament director, declared it was the largest number entered in a tourney this year.

* * *

Ben Hogan, winner of the recent Hale America event in Chicago and past master of the art of raking in shekels with a golf club, was considered a favorite as he was sent off the first tee with Horton Smith and Reggie Myles.

* * *

Defending the title he won last year was Clayton Heafner of Durham, N. C., who registered 276 to better Byron Nelson by one stroke and Hogan by two.

The Mahoning Valley Country club course has been revamped into a par of 34-34—68 for the three-day test. Today and tomorrow the contestants play 18 holes, and finish Sunday with 36.

Wildcat Carries Hopes of Big Ten

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(INS)—On 20-year-old bespectacled Manuel de la Torre rested today the hopes of the Western conference for a finalist in the 45th National Intercollegiate Golf tournament in progress over the Chain O' Lakes course of the South Bend Country club.

* * *

He was pitted in today's semi-finals against Robert Kuntz of Yale, with Harold Gjolme of the University of Washington and Frank Tatum of Stanford hooking up in the other match.

* * *

De la Torre, who has been swinging a golf club practically since his infancy, recently finished his sophomore year at Northwestern and was the first Wildcat student ever to reach the semi-finals in the intercollegiate tournament.

Jones Trains For War Job

Captain Bobby Heads Civilian Air Patrol.

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK—(AP)—When a fellow shoots close-to-par golf and still winds up 19 strokes back of the top money, it's time to admit the other guys may be getting "too hot" for him, but that's not the reason Bobby Jones is hanging up his clubs for the duration.

Bobby—it's Capt. Robert Tyre Jones now—was still slightly shell-shocked today as he recalled last week's Hale America tournament at Chicago, during which Ben Hogan left him far back, although he was right up near regulation figures all the way.

He pointed out emphatically that the big idea in trading in his sticks for that soldier suit and those double silver shoulder bars was that he figured he could use his eyes for something more important than lining up putts.

* * *

So did Uncle Sam's army. And, as a result, the round-faced man with the Peachtree accent has started out o.. an assignment that will make him the biggest pair of eyes among the 800,000 pairs that will be spotting enemy planes for the army's fighter aircraft along the Atlantic Seaboard from Maine to Key West.

Fresh from the Chicago shotmaking, he was ordered to start a course here in the aircraft warning service, which means observation posts along the entire coast line.

"After completing this course," explained Brig. Gen. John K. Cannon, commanding general of the first fighter command, "Captain Jones will be assigned to organizing and instructing volunteers in this vital observation service.

"The service comprises more than 800,000 civilian volunteers. They have truly been described as the eyes of the first fighter command. They release for combat duty thousands of soldiers—as many as 30,000 or 40,000—who would otherwise have to man the observation posts.

* * *

A lot of this was news even to Bobby, who showed up 15 pounds lighter than on his previous trip to New York—"I've been in training," he pointed out.

"You see," he related, "I had a reserve officer's commission as a lieutenant, but I let it lapse last year. I've been playing a lot of exhibition golf to raise war funds. Guess the other fellows and I have managed to bring about $150,000 into the till."

About golf—well, Bobby was still awe-struck at Hogan's last four putts on the final four holes of the Hale America.

"Those putts Ben made were four of the greatest I ever saw," the one-time grand-slam championship winner emphasized. "One was a 15-footer, another a 20-footer. And all under pressure, mind you. Best thing about it was I had a grand stand seat.... I was playing with Ben on that last round. And Brother, I really saw some golf."

St. Paul Drops Into Loop Cellar

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Principal change in American association standings today following yesterday's games was St. Paul moving into the cellar to replace the Toledo Mud Hens. Kansas City continues in the league driver's seat with Milwaukee two and a half games behind.

Toledo dumped the Brewers, 8-7 in a 12-inning contest and moved up a notch in the standings as St. Paul split a double header with Louisville. The Colonels copped the first contest, an 11-inning fray, 4-3, and the Saints took the second, 8-7.

While all this was going on, the Columbus Red Birds split a twin bill with the first place Kansas City Blues. Kansas City shut out the Birds in the opener, 1-0, while Columbus came back in the nightcap to win, 4-3.

These three members of the Cleveland Indians, Manager Lou Boudreau, shortstop, Ken Keltner, third baseman, and Jim Bagby, pitcher, yesterday were named to the American league all-star team.

Bosox Open Tribe Series

Lead Indians By Only Game and Half Margin.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—With second place in the American league at stake, the Boston Red Sox open a four-game week-end series here tonight with their first nocturnal contest against the Cleveland Indians.

* * *

Boston's runner-up advantage over the Tribe was cut to a game and a half yesterday when the Red Sox lost to Detroit while the Indians were taking a 4 to 1 decision from Philadelphia.

Lefty Al Smith put the Tribe within 28 percentage points of Boston yesterday when he limited Philadelphia to five hits, three of them coming in the fifth inning when the A's scored their lone tally.

The Indians got two runs on two hits in the fourth frame. Oris Hockett and Kenny Keltner hit successive singles, and after Jeff Heath fanned, Les Fleming walked to fill the bases. Lou Boudreau hit a long fly which scored Hockett and advanced the other runners, and Keltner crossed the plate on a passed ball.

In the next inning Ray Mack opened with a triple and was driven in by Otto Denning's long fly.

Hockett ended the scoring in the eighth stanza when he lined a three-and-two pitch over the wall for his fifth home run this season and the Redskins' sixth in the Philadelphia series.

* * *

Boudreau named the veteran Mel Harder to hurl against the Sox tonight.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—The big problem for the major league all-star managers will be how to keep from starting too many Yankees and Dodgers. . . . Joe McCarthy ought to make out all right—he's had plenty of practice—but Leo Durocher has Owen, Wyatt, Herman, Reese, Vaughan, Reiser and Medwick from his own club. How are you going to pick any players ahead of them? . . . Don't forget Vaughan was the guy who hit two homers last year, and the all-star game usually starts him on a hitting streak.

Heinie Groh writes that our note the other day saying he had passed up Dom DiMaggio as being too small was all wrong. . . . "I recommended Dom DiMaggio three years in succession," he protests. "It was the purchase price of his contract (for a player wearing glasses) that made the Giants hesitate."

Buckeye Tracks Aid Service Funds

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's running races may become a rich source of revenue for the Army-Navy Relief Fund.

Under a program discussed with the state racing commission yesterday meets would be extended from one to three days and track operators would donate extra receipts to the service groups.

Mrs. Helen Rickett, commission secretary, said the race board indicated it would permit longer meetings and would not collect usual taxes on Army-Navy Fund days.

Officials of the Hamilton meet scheduled for the Butler county fairgrounds tracks July 4-25, will donate $3,900 to the fund and have set July 18 as Army-Navy day, D. E. Cronin, president of the Ohio Sports Enterprises Inc., announced.

* * *

Robert J. Dienst, president of the Beulah Park Jockey club, Grove City, announced that two special fund cards were set tentatively for its fall schedule. Cronin said he understood other clubs planned similar events.

In addition to Hamilton and Beulah, meets are scheduled at Ascot park, Akron; River Downs, Cincinnati, and Thistledown, Cleveland.

Pacer Entered In Marion Race

Bellville Owner Sends Bob Hope in 2 Events.

MARION—R. C. Mason of Bellville has nominated Bob Hope in two of the seven early-closing events of the two-week Marion Little Grand Circuit harness racing meet, July 1-July 9. The horse has been named in the $500 free-for-all pace and the 12-pace, also a $500 stake race.

More than 100 horses including Bob Hope were named in the early-closing schedule, pointing to one of the greatest meetings in the history of the half-mile Marion county fairground track.

Frank M. Foster, president of the Houghton Sulky Co., and secretary for the meeting, predicts more than 200 horses will be brought here for the meeting. Sixty horses recently were shipped here from Buffalo raceway, Buffalo, N. Y. Many of the nation's leading reinsmen will also be on hand.

Officials for the meeting are Steve Phillips of Xenia, starting judge, and Joseph McGraw of Washington, Pa., presiding judge. Both men worked the last three Ohio Short Ship meetings here.

Youngsters Run Wild In Tourney

CHICAGO —(U.P.)— Four young women who have swept over their more experienced elders play today the semi-finals in the Women's Western Open Golf tournament.

Jeanne Cline, Bloomington, Ill., eliminated the veteran Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., in yesterday's quarter-final round 3 and 1 to maintain the "upset a day" record of the tourney. She meets the only favorite still in the running today when she plays Betty Jameson, San Antonia, Tex., who eliminated Dorothy Foster, Springfield, Ill., 2 up.

Marjorie Row, Detroit, one of the most consistent woman players, meets 17-year old Phyllis Otto of Atlantic, Iowa, in the other semi-final match.

SENATORS BOLSTER LOOP LEADERSHIP

DAYTON—(AP)—Dayton, in the Mid-Atlantic league cellar two weeks ago, moved within a single percentage point of third-place Canton by taking a 2-1 decision from the Terriers last night.

Charleston strengthened its hold on the loop leadership, defeating Zanesville 5 to 3 as second-place Erie was knocked off by Springfield, 4 to 1.

Both Big Leagues Select Squad for All-Star Game

By JUDSON BAILEY

NEW YORK—(AP)—The National league announced a strong all-star squad today with seven of the Brooklyn Dodgers in the cast that will face the American league's best at the Polo Grounds July 6.

The selections of the eight managers of the senior circuit included some surprises—such as the choice of Catcher Walker Cooper of the St. Louis Cardinals and rookie outfielder Willard Marshall of the New York Giants while passing up infielders Stan Mack of the Chicago Cubs and Billy Jurges of the Giants—but the strength of the squad could not be questioned.

* * *

Manager Leo Durocher of the Dodgers, who will lead this year's National league array of virtue by winning last year's pennant, will have all of his own regulars in the fold except first baseman Dolph Camilli and outfielder Dixie Walker.

The complete squad in the order chosen by the league:

Pitchers — Morton Cooper, St. Louis; Whitlow Wyatt, Brooklyn; Claude Passeau, Chicago; John Vander Meer, Paul Derringer and William Walters, Cincinnati; Clifford Melton, New York.

Catchers—Arnold Owen, Brooklyn; Walker Cooper, St. Louis; Ernest Lombardi, Boston.

Outfielders—Harold Reiser and Joe Medwick, Brooklyn; Enos Slaughter, St. Louis; Melvin Ott, New York; Terry Moore, St. Louis; Danny Litwhiler, Philadelphia; Willard Marshall, New York.

The complete American league squad as announced yesterday by league President William Harridge:

Pitchers — Ernest Bonham and Charles Ruffing, New York; Alton Benton, Detroit; Spurgeon Chandler, New York; Tex Hughson, Boston; Sid Hudson, Washington; Ed Smith, Chicago; James Bagby, Cleveland; Harold Newhouser, Detroit.

Catchers—William Dickey, New York; George Tebbetts, Detroit; Warren Rosar, New York.

Infielders — Lou Boudreau, Cleveland; Bob Doerr, Boston; Joe Gordon, New York; Ken Keltner, Cleveland; Rudy York, Detroit; George McQuinn, St. Louis; Phil Rizzuto, New York.

Outfielders—Ted Williams, Boston; Joe DiMaggio, New York; Dom DiMaggio, Boston; Tom Henrich, New York; Bob Johnson, Philadelphia, and Stan Spence, Washington.

Wells Leads Ohio Seniors

Seeks Title He Won Two Seasons Ago.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Unless some 85 golfers, all over the half-century mark, do something about it today in the second 18-hole round, Joe E. Wells of East Liverpool will become the first man ever to snare the Ohio Golf association's senior championship for the second time.

* * *

Wells won the second annual tourney in 1940, and lost his crown a year ago to R. A. (Bob) Stranahan of Toledo. In yesterday's opening round "Old Man Par" (he's 72) and Wells (he's 53) had an even tussle, the ex-champ's nobby round giving him a one-stroke edge over the field.

On his heels, with a 73, was J. R. Simpson of Hamilton, a stripling of 51, barely eligible to get into the tourney. Wells slipped over par on the second and third holes, but birdied the sixth and 17th to stay on even terms with par, while Simpson, two under even figures for the first 12 holes, bogied four of the last six and birdied one to slip one above the card.

Stranahan, attempting to repeat, was third with 76, which led the 55-59 year group. The 60 to 64 year lead was taken by C. A. Hauck of Toledo with 81, but Raleigh Lee of Columbus, 1939 champion and several times holder of the national seniors' crown, had a 78 to top the 65 to 69 contingent.

In last place, nine strokes back of his nearest foe, was former Governor George White of Marietta with 125.

* * *

About $1,000 in war bonds will be distributed to the veterans at the end of today's round, awards being made to scratch and handicap leaders in each age group, as well as to the champion and to the winners of putting and other contests.

Dance Production.

Eleanor Powell is reported to crack all her previous dancing records in her new production, "Ship Ahoy," opening Saturday at the Ohio. Miss Powell plays a dancer who finds herself an innocent victim of saboteurs in Latin America and informs her friends that enemy agents are operating by tapping out a Morse code. Red Skelton and Bert Lahr carry the comedy roles and Tommy Dorsey's orchestra furnishes the music.

Spy Comedy.

Kay Kyser becomes involved in a life and death struggle with a spy ring in his new comedy, "My Favorite Spy," a Harold Lloyd production, opening Saturday at the Madison. As in his former vehicles, Kyser plays himself, the leader of an orchestra in a swanky hotel. His chase begins at the start of his honeymoon when he is suddenly drafted into secret service and unable to tell his bride of the plans. Ellen Drew, Jane Wyman and Ish Kabibble are in the cast. "This Gun for Hire," with Veronica Lake and Robert Preston is the second attraction.

Charlie Chan Film.

"Castles in the Desert," another Charlie Chan mystery-comedy with Sidney Toler in the role of the wiley Oriental detective, is showing at the Ritz. Bill Boyd is starred in the co-attraction, "Riders of the Timberline."

Unusual Comedy.

Wendy Hiller carries the title role in "Major Barbara," the Park attraction, based on George Bernard Shaw's comedy by the same name. The story deals with the clash of ideas between a munitions manufacturer and his Salvation Army daughter and the cast is all-English. "Valley of the Sun," with Lucille Ball is the second picture.

Department store sales have increased 24 per cent since 1939.

CAT ADOPTS FOX LITTER

MANCHESTER, N. Y.—(U.P.)—Topsy, a three-year-old cat owned by Mrs. Bertram Lush, has adopted a litter of seven baby red foxes which were orphaned when hunters killed their mother. At feeding time the cat shows no partiality between her kittens and the orphan foxes.

RESOLUTION NO. 42-133

By Mr. Kyle

Declaring it necessary to improve portions of Park Avenue East, Ashland Road, City Square, Hedges Street and East First Street by resurfacing with asphalt top.

Be It Resolved by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, three-fourths of all members elected thereto concurring,

Section 1: That it is necessary to improve by resurfacing with asphalt top the following streets situated in the City of Mansfield, County of Richland, State of Ohio and more particularly described and designated as follows:

1. U.S.R. 42, U.S.R. 30, S.R. 13, S.R. 39; Around square and East Park Avenue to junction U.S.R. 30 with U.S.R. 42.

2. U.S.R. 42-A: Hedges Street from East Park Avenue to First Street, and First Street from Hedges Street to South Main Street.

3. U.S.R. 42: from junction with U.S.R. 30 to east corporation line.

Section 2: That the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of the proposed improvement heretofor prepared by the Engineer and now on file in the office of Director of Public Service be and the same are hereby approved.

Section 3: That one-half the cost of said improvement, not exceeding twenty-four thousand five hundred dollars ($24,500.00), plus the cost of castings and catch basins and manholes, serving notices, interest, advertising, engineering, appraisal board etc. necessary for the completion of said improvement, shall be assessed by the foot front upon the following described lots and lands to-wit: all lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement save and except No. 2 above, being Hedges Street and East First Street, which lots and lands are hereby determined to be specially benefited by said improvement and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of the preliminaries and other surveys and of printing and publishing the notices; resolutions and ordinances required and the serving of said notices, and the cost of construction.

Section 4: That the assessments to be levied shall be paid in five (5) annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as shall be borne by the bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection thereof; provided that the owners of any property assessed may come at his option, pay such assessment in cash within 30 days after the passing of the assessing ordinance.

Section 5: That bonds of the City of Mansfield, Ohio shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

Section 6: This resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed June 12, 1942.

Signed: HOWARD G. MILLER, President of Council.
Attest: R. R. BLACK, Clerk of Council.
Approved: W. J. LOCKE, Mayor.

2—Card of Thanks

WE DESIRE to express our sincere thanks and gratitude to our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during the death of our dear father, Mr. Joseph Stoner, to all those who sent flowers, Rev. Swoyer for his consoling words, and the Wappner funeral directors for their kind and efficient service.
Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Stoner, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert McElvain, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Stoner, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore McLaughlin.

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone: Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane. She will be glad to render service and advice you need.

STOCK MARKET DISPLAYS MILD UPWARD TREND

National Retail Spending Shows 5 to 8 Per Cent Decline From '41.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Stock market leaders displayed mild rising tendencies in today's proceedings.

Douglas Aircraft was up a point and minor fractions were tacked on Bethlehem, Boeing, Socony-Vacuum, Montgomery Ward, N. Y. Central, Republic Steel and Goodrich.

Holders of merchandising shares noted the Dun & Bradstreet survey which estimated retail spending throughout the nation this week fell 5 to 8 per cent below the dollar volume a year ago.

The federal reserve board, on the other hand, found department store sales, for the country as a whole, in the week ended June 20, topped the comparable 1941 period by 9 per cent.

DISCUSS PLANS

Women Voters, State Head, To Study Election Program.

The Richland county League of Women Voters will step up its plans to "get out the vote" at the August primaries Tuesday when the state president, Mrs. C. C. Shively of Columbus, comes to Mansfield to confer with Mrs D. O. Meese, local president, and other members of the executive board.

Mrs. Shively will aid the League in mapping out its summer campaign to interview the candidates preliminary to setting up a booth in Central park three days before the primaries as a medium of dispensing information to the voters.

These interviews were started this week by Mrs Meese and Mrs. A. M. Colby chairman of government and its operations, and they will be aided by various members of the League. The state president will be accompanied to Mansfield by Miss Ruth Cole, state executive secretary.

Water Diversion Project to Boost Sugar Beet Crop

DENVER—(INS)—Completion of the Colorado-Big Thompson water diversion project and the additional water it will provide will bring about an increase in Colorado sugar beet acreage from 104,000 acres in 1941 to 193,000 acres, according to an estimate by Clifford H. Stone, director of the state water conservation board.

"The project will provide 300,000 acre feet per annum for irrigation purposes," Stone said "This is of importance as an aid to stabilization of agricultural production at a level above the present average and at a level now obtainable in only the most favorable of water supply years."

DECIDES HOT DOG NO MEAL

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—(U P)—A hot dog is not a meal in California.

The issue came up when the Treasure Island Catering company protested paying $11,843 in sales taxes on hot dogs and hamburgers sold during the world's fair on Treasure Island in San Francisco bay.

The state supreme court settled the case by ruling that hot dogs and hamburgers were not a meal, hence not subject to the sales tax, which placed the two tasty confections in the same exempt classification as other kinds of food.

While the litigation was in progress, the tax payment had accumulated an extra $1,308 in 6 per cent interest, so the company got a total check of $12,151 from the state controller.

PETROL RATION CHILLS PETTERS

BRISBANE, Australia—(U P)—Gasoline restrictions in Australia have cut down petting in cars in Brisbane's parks and drives, according to the Liquid Fuel Control Board

Autoists caught "parking" are brought before the board, and questioned as to why they were parked If the answer is not satisfactory, their gas ration is cut.

Former "tail light avenues" are now empty and petting car owners have labeled the board "snoopers" and protested being "trailed like criminals."

ONE MORE DAY

Grand Jury to Take Up 2nd Murder Case Tomorrow.

Already in session three days, the Richland county grand jury saw a chance today that its session may extend into Saturday afternoon.

The jurors are scheduled to begin their probe of the slaying of Mrs. Mary Johnson, 25-year-old Mansfield colored resident, Saturday morning. Other cases on the calendar were to be completed today. The murder case is expected to require several hours.

Nearly 25 cases, several of them requiring a large number of witnesses, have made the session one of the heaviest for a county grand jury in recent years.

John Johnson, 42, colored, is held on a second-degree murder charge in connection with the fatal stabbing of Mrs. Johnson, his estranged wife, at her home on Bowman street last week.

The jury has already heard a murder charge against Ernest Moore, Mansfield reformatory inmate, for the slaying of Charles Dickerson, a fellow inmate, and a manslaughter case involving the death of 65-year-old Charles Crump of Ashley in a traffic accident near Lexington.

DANCERS INVENT NEW TYPE STEP

ST. LOUIS—(U.P.)—Twenty-year-old Louis Rayot and his 18-year-old sister, Georgia, are ready to present a new type of tap dance They term it the "chain gang" step

The legs of the two are linked together by a nine-inch length of chain. They began practicing the dance a year ago after three years of training as individual tap dancers.

"It's all a matter of timing and co-ordination," he said. Georgia described the dance by saying "I go my way and Louis goes his, but we both go together, step by step at the same time."

The first cathedral in the western hemisphere was built in Santo Domingo in 1512.

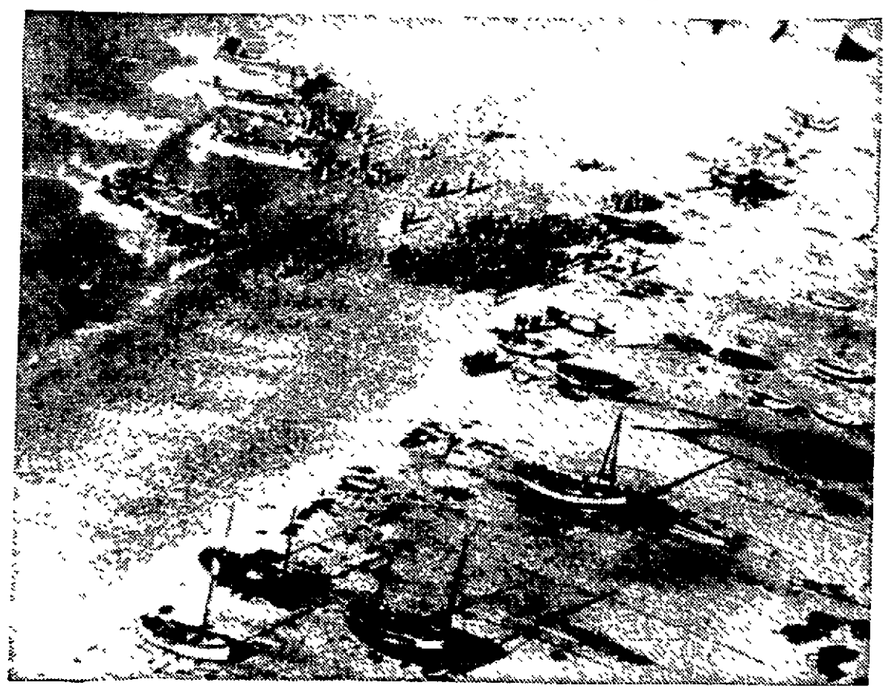
This Is How Commandos Stage a Raid



British Commandos assemble on a French beach immediately following their successful raid on Boulogne. Upon reorganization of their forces they will leap aboard invasion barges seen being pulled ashore for the trip home. The craft lying above the highwater mark belong to French fishermen. This photo was taken from one of the RAF planes which afforded the Commandos aerial protection.
